1 Information on intrinsic properties of substances may be generated by means other than tests, provided that the conditions set out in Annex XI are met. In particular for human toxicity, information shall be generated whenever possible by means other than vertebrate animal tests, through the use of alternative methods, for example, in vitro methods or qualitative or quantitative structure-activity relationship models or from information from structurally related substances (grouping or read-across). Testing in accordance with Annex VIII, Sections 8.6 and 8.7, Annex IX and Annex X may be omitted where justified by information on exposure and implemented risk management measures as specified in Annex XI, section 3.

3 Where tests on substances are required to generate information on intrinsic properties of substances, they shall be conducted in accordance with the test methods laid down in ^{F21}the Test Methods Regulation] or in accordance with other international test methods recognised by ^{F22}... the Agency as being appropriate. ^{F23}...

Information on intrinsic properties of substances may be generated in accordance with other test methods provided that the conditions set out in Annex XI are met.

4 Ecotoxicological and toxicological tests and analyses shall be carried out in compliance with the principles of good laboratory practice provided for in ^{F24}the Good Laboratory Practice Regulations 1999] or other international standards recognised as being equivalent by ^{F25}... the Agency and with the provisions of ^{F26}the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986], if applicable.

5 If a substance has already been registered, a new registrant shall be entitled to refer to the study summaries or robust study summaries, for the same substance submitted earlier, provided that he can show that the substance that he is now registering is the same as the one previously registered, including the degree of purity and the nature of impurities, and that the previous registrant(s) have given permission to refer to the full study reports for the purpose of registration.

A new registrant shall not refer to such studies in order to provide the information required in Section 2 of Annex VI.

^[F22] A chemical safety assessment in accordance with paragraph 1 need not be performed for a substance which is present in a mixture if the concentration of the substance in the mixture is less than:

- a the cut-off value referred to in Article 11, paragraph 3 of Regulation (EC) No 1272/2008;
- b 0,1 % weight by weight (w/w), if the substance meets the criteria in Annex XIII to this Regulation.]

3 A chemical safety assessment of a substance shall include the following steps:

- a human health hazard assessment;
- b physicochemical hazard assessment;
- c environmental hazard assessment;
- d persistent, bioaccumulative and toxic (PBT) and very persistent and very bioaccumulative (vPvB) assessment.

^[F24] If, as a result of carrying out steps (a) to (d) of paragraph 3, the registrant concludes that the substance fulfils the criteria for any of the following hazard classes or categories set out in Annex I to Regulation (EC) No 1272/2008:
