EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations amend the Dangerous Substances and Preparations (Safety) (Consolidation) Regulations 1994 (the principal Regulations) as amended by the Dangerous Substances and Preparations (Safety) (Consolidation) (Amendment) Regulations 1996, the Dangerous Substances and Preparations (Safety) (Consolidation) (Amendment) Regulations 1999, and the Dangerous Substances and Preparations (Safety) (Consolidation) and Chemicals (Hazard Information and Packaging for Supply) (Amendment) Regulations 2000.

These Regulations amend the principal Regulations by removing the derogation at regulation 3A(5) relating to paraffin to which a colouring agent has been added solely to distinguish it for safety reasons from another liquid substance or preparation, which is intended for any use other than as a fuel in decorative lamps.

The prohibition on the supply of certain dangerous substances and preparations that contain a colouring agent and or perfume, which can be used as fuel in decorative lamps is a requirement of Commission Directive 97/64/EEC (OJNo. L 315, 19.11.97, p.13) which adapted to technical progress for the fourth time Annex 1 to Council Directive 76/769/EEC (OJ No. L 262, 27.9.76, p.201).

A transposition note is available, copies of which have been placed in the libraries of both Houses of Parliament. Copies are also available from the Consumer and Competition Policy Directorate of the Department of Trade and Industry, 1 Victoria Street, London SW1H 0ET.
