EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations bring into force section 68 of the Victims and Prisoners Act 2024 (c. 21), which amends section 246 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (c. 44) (“the 2003 Act”).

The Secretary of State is required to release prisoners serving fixed-term sentences once they have served the requisite custodial period, which is set at one half of their sentence by sections 243A(3) and 244(3) of the 2003 Act.

Section 246 of the 2003 Act gives the Secretary of State the power to release certain prisoners on Home Detention Curfew, which is a release on licence where they are subject to an electronically monitored curfew in the community up to 180 days before they have served the requisite custodial period. Section 68 of the Victims and Prisoners Act 2024 extends eligibility for release under section 246 by removing the restrictions on those serving sentences over four years (except those subject to the release provisions in section 244ZA and Schedule 20B of the 2003 Act), those who have been recalled for a breach of curfew conditions and those returned to custody under section 40 of the Criminal Justice Act 1991 (c. 53) or section 116 of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 (c. 6).

An impact assessment has not been produced for this statutory instrument as no significant impact on the private, voluntary or public sectors is foreseen.
