Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

The effect of specification under paragraphs 15(1) and 15(2) is that sections 94(1) to (6) of the Act (which provides for the enforcement of undertakings and related rights) shall apply in relation to the undertakings and orders instead of sections 93 and 93A of the 1973 Act. Specification under paragraph 15(3) has the effect that undertakings made under section 88 and orders made under section 56 may be enforced by civil proceedings brought by the Competition Commission. The effect of specification under paragraph 16(1) is to provide the Competition Commission with a power to supersede, vary or release any such undertaking instead of the Secretary of State. The effect of specification, under paragraph 17(1), of an order made under section 56 of the 1973 Act is that the order may be varied or revoked by an order made by the Competition Commission.

Article 4 provides for consequential amendments to the terms of the undertakings and orders so that the Office of Fair Trading may give directions or consent in place of the Secretary of State.
