

ANNEX I

DEFINITIONS

(as referred to in Article 1)

2. 'Allogeneic donation' means blood and blood components collected from an individual and intended for transfusion to another individual, for use in medical devices or as starting material/raw material for manufacturing into medicinal products.