

Regulation (EC) No 561/2006 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 15 March 2006 on the harmonisation of certain social legislation relating to road transport and amending Council Regulations (EEC) No 3821/85 and (EC) No 2135/98 and repealing Council Regulation (EEC) No 3820/85 (Text with EEA relevance)

CHAPTER II

CREWS, DRIVING TIMES, BREAKS AND REST PERIODS

Article 8

1 A driver shall take daily and weekly rest periods.

2 Within each period of 24 hours after the end of the previous daily rest period or weekly rest period a driver shall have taken a new daily rest period.

If the portion of the daily rest period which falls within that 24 hour period is at least nine hours but less than 11 hours, then the daily rest period in question shall be regarded as a reduced daily rest period.

3 A daily rest period may be extended to make a regular weekly rest period or a reduced weekly rest period.

4 A driver may have at most three reduced daily rest periods between any two weekly rest periods.

5 By way of derogation from paragraph 2, within 30 hours of the end of a daily or weekly rest period, a driver engaged in multi-manning must have taken a new daily rest period of at least nine hours.

[^{F16} In any two consecutive weeks a driver shall take at least:

- a two regular weekly rest periods; or
- b one regular weekly rest period and one reduced weekly rest period of at least 24 hours.

A weekly rest period shall start no later than at the end of six 24-hour periods from the end of the previous weekly rest period.

[^{F2}By way of derogation from the first subparagraph, a driver engaged in international transport of goods may, outside the United Kingdom or the member State of the employer's establishment, take two consecutive reduced weekly rest periods provided that the driver in any four consecutive weeks takes at least four weekly rest periods, of which at least two shall be regular weekly rest periods.

For the purpose of this paragraph, a driver shall be considered to be engaged in international transport where the driver starts the two consecutive reduced weekly rest periods outside the United Kingdom or the member State of the employer's establishment and the country of the drivers' place of residence.]

[^{F3} ...]

[^{F4}6a. By way of derogation from paragraph 6, a driver engaged in a single occasional passenger service of international carriage of passengers, may postpone the weekly rest period for up to 12 consecutive 24 hour periods following a previous regular weekly rest period provided that—

- a the service lasts at least 24 consecutive hours in the United Kingdom, a member State or another country or territory to which this Regulation applies, other than the one in which the service started;
- b after the use of the derogation, the driver takes—
 - i either two consecutive regular weekly rest periods; or
 - ii one regular weekly rest period followed immediately by one reduced weekly rest period of at least 24 hours. However, any reduction in that weekly rest period shall be compensated by an equivalent period of rest taken en bloc before the end of the third week following the end of the derogation period;
- c after 1st January 2014 the vehicle is equipped with recording equipment in accordance with the requirements of Annex IB to Regulation (EEC) No 3821/85; and
- d after 1st January 2014, if driving during the period from 22,00 to 06,00, the vehicle is multi-manned or the driving period referred to in Article 7 is reduced to three hours].

[^{F56b} Any reduction in weekly rest period shall be compensated by an equivalent period of rest taken en bloc before the end of the third week following the week in question.

F6 ...

[^{F7}Where two reduced weekly rest periods have been taken consecutively in accordance with the third subparagraph of paragraph 6, the next weekly rest period shall be preceded by an equivalent rest period taken as compensation for those two reduced weekly rest periods.]]

7 Any rest taken as compensation for a reduced weekly rest period shall be attached to another rest period of at least nine hours.

[^{F18} The regular weekly rest periods and any weekly rest period of more than 45 hours taken in compensation for previous reduced weekly rest periods shall not be taken in a vehicle. They shall be taken in suitable gender-friendly accommodation with adequate sleeping and sanitary facilities.

Any costs for accommodation outside the vehicle shall be covered by the employer.]

[^{F58a} Transport undertakings shall organise the work of drivers in such a way that the drivers are able to return to the employer’s operational centre where the driver is normally based and where the driver’s weekly rest period begins, ^{F8}... or to return to the drivers’ place of residence, within each period of four consecutive weeks, in order to spend at least one regular weekly rest period or a weekly rest period of more than 45 hours taken in compensation for reduced weekly rest period.

F9 ...

[^{F10}However, where the driver has taken two consecutive reduced weekly rest periods in accordance with paragraph 6, the transport undertaking shall organise the work of the driver in such a way that the driver is able to return before the start of the regular weekly rest period of more than 45 hours taken in compensation.

The undertaking shall document how it fulfils that obligation and shall keep the documentation at its premises in order to present it at the request of control authorities.]]

9 A weekly rest period that falls in two weeks may be counted in either week, but not in both.
