SECTION 4

MONITORING OF OPERATIONAL PROGRAMMES

The indicators related to actions undertaken by recognised producer organisations [<sup>F55</sup>and associations] of producer organisations <sup>F56</sup>...<sup>F57</sup>... under an operational programme <sup>F58</sup>... does not necessarily capture all the factors that may intervene and affect the outputs, results and impact of an operational programme <sup>F58</sup>... . In this context, the information provided by the indicators should be interpreted in the light of quantitative and qualitative information relating to other key factors contributing to the success or failure of the [<sup>F59</sup>programme's] implementation.

a	Including non-productive investments linked to the achievement of commitments undertaken under the operational programme.
b	Refers to a set of detailed obligations concerning the production methods (a) the respect of which is subject to independent inspection, and (b) that result in a final product the quality of which (i) goes significantly beyond the normal commercial standards as regards public health, plant health or environmental standards and (ii) responds to current and foreseeable market opportunities. It is proposed that the main types of 'quality schemes' cover the following: (a) certified organic production; (b) protected geographical indications and protected designations of origin, (c) certified integrated production, (d) private certified product quality schemes.
c	Protected designations of origin/Protected Geographical Indications/Traditional Speciality Guaranteed
d	Each day of a promotion/communication campaign counts as one action.
e	'At risk of soil erosion' shall mean any sloping plot with an inclination higher than 10 %, whether or not anti-erosion measures (e.g. soil cover, crop rotation, etc.) have been taken. Where the relevant information is available, [F62] the appropriate authority] may instead use the following definition: 'At risk of soil erosion' shall mean any plot with a predicted loss of soil exceeding the rate of natural soil formation, whether or not anti-erosion measures (e.g. soil cover or crop rotation) have been taken.
f	Actions relating to the setting up/refilling of different mutual funds count as different actions.
g	Market withdrawal of the same product in different periods of the year and market withdrawals of different products count as different actions. Each market withdrawal operation for a given product counts as one action.
h	Green-harvesting and non-harvesting of different products count as different actions. Green harvesting and non-harvesting of the same product count as one action, regardless of the number of days they take, the number of holdings participating and the number of plots or hectares concerned.
