

SCHEDULE 2

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

PART II

1.

PREPARATION OF THE SAMPLE FOR ANALYSIS

Organic materials

6.3 Some organic materials may be of such a nature that the procedures given above cannot be used (for example fresh guano, leather, wool and animal residues). In these cases the analyst should use the best practicable means to obtain a representative sample.