Provided that if there is a written agreement or undertaking by the transferor or lessee (as the case may be) that he will be responsible for presenting the instrument for stamping under the provisions of the Stamp Act, 1891, then it shall be the duty of such transferor or lessee to produce the instrument for the purposes of the said sub-section (1):

And whereas the person upon whom the aforesaid duty is imposed is in these Regulations referred to as "the responsible party":

And whereas it is provided by sub-section (6) of section nine of the Act that the Ministry may (among other things) by regulations provide from time to time for the exemption of any particular class or classes of instrument from the requirements mentioned in sub-section (1) of the said section:

And whereas it is provided by sub-section (8) of section nine of the Act that the said section shall apply to instruments executed after the 1st day of December, 1936:

Now therefore the Ministry, in pursuance of the provisions aforesaid, hereby makes the following Regulations, that is to say:—

- 2. Where the responsible party elects to allow the instrument to be retained by the Ministry—
  - (a) The Ministry shall issue a receipt in respect of the instrument, but so that a single receipt may be issued in respect of a series of instruments:
  - (b) The Ministry may retain the instrument for a period not exceeding one week from the date of production;
  - (c) Subject to the foregoing paragraphs of this Regulation, the instrument, with a stamp impressed thereon denoting hat the requirements of the Act have been complied with, shall be returned to the responsible party on surrender of the receipt relating thereto.
