

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not a part of the regulations but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These regulations make provision with respect to the superannuation rights of persons leaving the Northern Ireland Health Service to take up employment in the local government service in Great Britain or who enter the Northern Ireland Health Service after having left such employment.

Broadly the regulations provide that—

- (a) if a superannuable employee in the Northern Ireland Health Service transfers within a prescribed period (generally twelve months) to superannuable employment in the local government service in Great Britain a transfer value of an appropriate amount shall be payable by the Ministry to the superannuation fund to which he has become a contributor;
- (b) if a superannuable employee under a local government superannuation scheme in Great Britain transfers within the prescribed period to superannuable employment in the Northern Ireland Health Service and the Ministry receives an appropriate transfer value from the fund to which the employee was formerly a contributor then he shall be entitled to reckon his former employment in the local government service in Great Britain for the purposes of the Northern Ireland Health Services Superannuation Scheme.

Complementary provision is to be made by the appropriate English and Scottish Departments to confer corresponding powers on local authorities in Great Britain maintaining superannuation funds.
