(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

Sub-section (1) of section 1D of the Protection of Animals Act, 1911, provides that after the 31st December, 1961, it shall be an offence to use, for the purpose of killing or taking animals, a spring trap other than one approved by Order of the Ministry of Home Affairs. The sub-section does not, however, apply to traps specified by the Ministry as being adapted solely for the destruction of rats, mice or other small ground vermin. By this Order the Ministry so specifies two types of small vermin trap commonly in use.
