EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

Subject to certain conditions, section 42 of the Superannuation Act (Northern Ireland) 1949 permits the payment of a children's pension to continue after age 16 if the child is undergoing training for a trade, profession or vocation. One of the conditions is that the emoluments received during training, excluding the return of any premiums, do not exceed £13 a year. The same condition is attached to children's pensions under the Judicial Pensions Act (Northern Ireland) 1951, the County Courts Act (Northern Ireland) 1959 and the Resident Magistrates' Pensions Act (Northern Ireland) 1960.

Reckoning of F.S.S.U. service as qualifying service in determining eligibility for benefit payable to or in respect of a civil servant

3.—(1) Where a person serving as a civil servant after the coming into operation of these Regulations was, immediately before he became a civil servant, subject to the Federated Superannuation System for Universities while employed in the civil service, then, subject to the provisions of this Regulation, the continuous period of his F.S.S.U. service immediately preceding the time when he became a civil servant shall, for the purpose only of the provisions of the Superannuation Acts with respect to the minimum periods of service which qualify for the benefit of those Acts, be treated as service in the capacity of a civil servant.

(2) Section 32 of the Superannuation Act (Northern Ireland) 1949 shall have effect in relation to a person to whom the preceding paragraph applies as if for the references in subsections (1) and (2) of that section to twenty years there were substituted references to a period equivalent to the amount by which twenty years exceeds the continuous period of his F.S.S.U. service immediately preceding the time when he became a civil servant:
