(a) 1966. c. 6 (N.I.).

(b) 1966. c. 9 (N.I.).

(c) S.I. 1949/875.

(d) 1965. c. 51.

the amount of a person's earnings derived from a gainful occupation shall be calculated or estimated in the manner and on the basis set out in these regulations.

- (2) Except in the case of earnings to which regulation 6 or 8 applies—
- (a) the amount of a person's earnings derived from a gainful occupation shall be the whole of the earnings from that occupation except in so far as regulations 4 and 5 provide that no account shall be taken of certain payments or perquisites and that certain payments shall be deducted;
- (b) where a person derives from a gainful occupation earnings which do not consist of salary, wages or fees related to a fixed period or where by reason of the circumstances of the occupation in which he is engaged the earnings derived from that occupation are not immediately ascertainable, such earnings shall be calculated for any day or week on or in which that person is following that occupation by dividing the total amount of the earnings accruing over such period as the determining authority regards as appropriate in the circumstances of the case by the number of days or weeks in that period during which that person has followed that occupation.

Payments to be disregarded in calculating earnings

4. Except in the case of earnings to which regulation 6 or 8 applies, in calculating or estimating the amount of a person's earnings derived from a gainful occupation, no account shall be taken—

- (1) for the purposes of the Act and of any regulations made thereunder of the value of—
- (a) meal vouchers supplied to the person, where the vouchers are not transferable and are valid for meals only, up to three shillings for each working day;
- (b) meals provided for the person by the employer at the place of work;
- (c) accommodation provided by the employer in which the person is required to live as a condition of his employment;
- (d) food or produce provided by the employer to the person for his personal needs;
- (2) for the purposes only of sections 29 and 42 of the Act, of any sums of money, in so far as such sums do not in total exceed ten pounds, or of any remuneration in kind, received in December of any year on or after the first Monday of that month by way of Christmas bonus:

Provided that a sum shall not be treated as received by a person by way of Christmas bonus if—

- (i) it is one of a series of sums paid to him at regular intervals of less than one year; or
- (ii) it accrues to him as overtime or incentive payment or is otherwise directly related to the hours of work or the amount of work performed by him.

Deductions to be made in calculating earnings

5. Except in the case of earnings to which regulation 6 or 8 applies, in calculating for the purposes of the Act and of any regulations made thereunder the amount of a person's earnings derived from a gainful occupation, there shall be deducted from that amount any contribution payable under the Act, the Industrial Injuries Act or any scheme made under either of those Acts and duly paid by the person or by his employer on his behalf where the amount of that contribution is duly recovered from him by the employer, and the following payments where made by that person, if the payments are not otherwise reimbursed—

- (a) expenses reasonably incurred by him in respect of travel between his place of residence and his place of work and in respect of travel which he is obliged to undertake in connection with and for the purposes of his employment;
- (b) the cost to him of premises, other than premises in which he normally resides, and of tools and equipment reasonably required by him for the purposes of his employment;
- (c) the cost to him of protective clothing obtained and reasonably required by him for the purposes of his employment, and of laundering and cleaning such clothing, and the cost to him of excessive wear and tear of his clothing attributable to the conditions and circumstances of his employment;
- (d) subscriptions paid by him to any association of employed persons or other association or body, the payment of which is reasonable in the circumstances of his employment;
- (e) the reasonable cost to him of making necessary provision for the care of a member of his household because of his necessary absence from home to carry out his duties in connection with his employment;
- (f) where no meal voucher has been provided, the cost to him, up to three shillings on each occasion, of any meal taken during the hours of his employment;
- (g) any other expenses (not being sums the deduction of which from wages or salary is authorised by statute) reasonably incurred by the person in connection with and for the purposes of his employment.

Calculation of earnings of certain retirement pensioners and adult dependants

6. Where in any week a person (being a retirement pensioner or an adult dependant thereof) is gainfully occupied in employment in Northern Ireland (not being employment under a contract of service) in any occupation (that is to say, in any trade, profession, business or vocation) and where the determining authority is satisfied that for his accounting period, being a period in which that week occurs or ends, a return or statement of the profits or gains of the occupation has been or will be delivered to the Inland Revenue for tax purposes, then for the purposes of sections 29(7) and 42 of the Act that person's earnings from that occupation for that week shall be calculated by dividing the total amount of the profits or gains from that occupation for that accounting period (as determined or agreed as the basis for an assessment to income tax) by the number of weeks in that accounting period, being periods of seven days beginning with the day on which that accounting period begins, in which that person has been following that occupation:

Provided that, for the purpose of adjusting a retirement pension under section 29(7) of the Act, any days in an accounting period occurring before the date on which a person becomes entitled to that pension and profits or gains arising in respect of those days (estimated in such manner as seems to the determining authority to be appropriate in the circumstances of the case) shall be disregarded.

Interim payments

7.—(1) Where the amount of a person's earnings for any week is to be determined in accordance with the provisions of regulation 6 and the question of the amount of that person's earnings for any such week has not been determined, the Ministry may, pending the determination of that question, direct that payment of retirement pension or any increase thereof shall, in so far as the rate or amount of the benefit depends on the determination of that question, be suspended, and may make such interim payments (but not exceeding the amount of retirement pension or any increase thereof which, apart from earnings, would be payable) as it thinks appropriate having regard to all the circumstances of the case; and the determining authority when that question is determined by it shall, where no benefit is then awarded or if benefit is then awarded where the total amount of any interim payments made in respect of the period to which the award relates exceeds the total amount of the benefit so awarded, require repayment of the excess payment and, in so far as the total amount of any interim payments made does not exceed the total amount of the benefit then awarded, shall direct that the interim payments shall be treated as having been made on account of the benefit then awarded.

(2) Where in accordance with paragraph (1) the determining authority requires repayment of any interim payments made by the Ministry, the provisions of the Act and of the regulations made thereunder shall apply to the sum required to be repaid as if that sum had been a payment of benefit duly made.

(3) The provisions of the Act and of the regulations made thereunder relating to the time and manner of payment of retirement pension, to the extinguishment of the right to sums payable by way of retirement pension which are not obtained within the prescribed time and to the information to be given when obtaining payment of retirement pension shall apply to any interim payment by virtue of this regulation as if it were a payment of retirement pension.

Calculation of earnings from boarders or lodgers in the case of certain retirement pensioners and adult dependants

8. Where a person who is a retirement pensioner or an adult dependant thereof (not being a person to whom regulation 6 applies) takes in boarders or lodgers, the amount of the earnings derived by that person from the taking in of such boarders or lodgers shall, for the purposes of sections 29(7) and 42 of the Act, be assessed for any week by taking into account—

- (a) in the case of each boarder or lodger who is receiving full board and lodging, where no reduction of charges is made on account of age, half the amount paid by or in respect of the boarder or lodger in excess of three pounds a week;
- (b) in any other case, half the amount paid by or in respect of each boarder or lodger in excess of such sum less than three pounds a week as the determining authority considers to be reasonable in the circumstances of the case.

Earnings of wife of retirement pensioner

9. In calculating under the foregoing provisions the weekly earnings of the wife of a beneficiary for the purposes of section 42(1) of the Act (increase of unemployment benefit, sickness benefit or retirement pension subject to earnings for the wife of a beneficiary), the week by reference to which such earnings shall be so calculated shall be, in the case of an increase of retirement pension, the calendar week ending last before any week for which the beneficiary is entitled to a retirement pension.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These Regulations make provision, in substitution for the existing provision, for the manner in and basis on which earnings are to be calculated or estimated for the purposes of the National Insurance Act (Northern Ireland) 1966 and of the regulations made thereunder. In particular they specify what payments are to be disregarded and what deductions are to be made in calculating earnings. They also provide for interim payments to be made in certain cases in which the amount of earnings, where it may affect benefit, cannot be immediately determined.
