

POLICY NOTE

THE EDUCATION (SCOTLAND) ACT 1980 (MODIFICATION) REGULATIONS 2020

SSI 2020/150

The above instrument was made in exercise of the powers conferred by section 53(8)(a)(ii)⁽¹⁾ of the Education (Scotland) Act 1980 (the “1980 Act”). This instrument is subject to negative procedure.

The purpose of the instrument is to modify section 53(7)(aa) of the 1980 Act, relating to eligibility for free school meals, by increasing the income threshold for parents or pupils in receipt of Child Tax Credit and Working Tax Credit from £6,900 to £7,330. This modification is required as a result of the increase in the National Living Wage which took effect in April 2020 and will protect eligibility for those pupils or parents who are in receipt of both Child Tax Credit and Working Tax Credit.

Policy Objectives

Free school lunch is a “passported benefit”, where the entitlement depends on a child or young person being an “eligible child or young person”, where their parent(s) or guardian(s), or the young person themselves, are in receipt of certain benefits as prescribed in section 53 of the 1980 Act.

Section 53 of the 1980 Act gives wide powers to an education authority under which they may provide food or drink to pupils and makes provision for the circumstances in which they may charge for such provision. On 5 January 2015, the Scottish Government entered into an agreement with education authorities where they would fund them to provide a free school lunch to all pupils in the first three years at publicly funded primary schools. Section 53(2) of the 1980 Act provides that an education authority must provide or secure the provision of a school lunch free of charge to pupils falling within section 53(7). A school lunch is defined by section 53(12) of the 1980 Act. Section 53(7)(a) requires the provision of a free school lunch to a pupil if the pupil or the parents of the pupil are in receipt of income support, income-based jobseeker’s allowance or an income related allowance under Part 1 of the Welfare Reform Act 2007. Section 53(7)(b) requires the provision of a free school lunch to a pupil if the parents of the pupil are in receipt of support provided under Part 6 of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999.

This instrument will amend paragraph (aa) of section 53(7), which requires provision of a free lunch to a pupil if the parents of the pupil are in receipt of Child Tax Credit and Working

Tax Credit and have an income of no more than £6,900. The amendment will increase this income threshold to £7,330. This protects eligibility for those who are affected by the proposed increase to National Living Wage. Further detail is provided in background below. The power to make such a modification to this primary legislation is set out in section 53(8)(a)(ii) of the 1980 Act.

There is a separate eligibility criterion for those in receipt of Child Tax Credit only, which has an annual income threshold of less than £16,105². We are not changing this criterion as the income threshold is higher and the increase in the National Living Wage does not affect this part of the eligible population.

Background

Since the introduction of the Education (School Lunches) (Scotland) Regulations 2009³, any child or young person has been eligible for a free school lunch where their parent(s) or guardian(s) receive both maximum Child Tax Credit and maximum Working Tax Credit. At present, both maximum Child Tax Credit and maximum Working Tax Credit is paid where annual income is less than £6,420. Once income increases above this level, the amount paid in tax credits starts to taper off. A combination of UK Government policies means that it would not be possible for anyone aged 25 or over, and in receipt of both Child Tax Credit and Working Tax Credit, to receive free school meals if the eligibility threshold had been held at this level. These policies are:

- to increase annually the ‘National Living Wage’ (this is the legal minimum wage for those aged 25 and over - not to be confused with the ‘real living wage’ as prescribed by the Living Wage Foundation); and
- to freeze income thresholds for receipt of maximum Child Tax Credit and maximum Working Tax Credit.

The Education (Scotland) Act 1980 (Modification) Regulations 2019, which came into effect in August 2019, increased the income threshold for eligibility for free school lunches to £6,900. A further increase in the National Living Wage, effective from April 2020, means it has become necessary for the 2019 regulations to be reviewed. The increase in the income threshold to £7,330 will continue to protect eligibility for those households that have seen an increase in their earnings due to the increase in the National Living Wage. As it is anticipated that the National Living Wage will continue to rise until the roll-out of Universal Credit is completed in 2023, further increases to the income eligibility threshold will be made in subsequent years to reflect future increases in the National Living Wage for recipients of both Child Tax Credit and Working Tax Credit.

We have chosen an income threshold of £7,330, for recipients of both Child Tax Credit and Working Tax Credit, since it will protect the eligibility of the existing cohort of households which are currently entitled to a free school lunch.

² This provision is set out in the Education (School Lunches) (Scotland) Regulations 2009 (SSI 2009/178).

Consultation

This instrument is being brought in to protect existing eligible households, through modifying eligibility criterion for recipients of both Child Tax Credit and Working Tax Credit in response to UK Government policies. There is no statutory requirement to conduct a consultation and no public consultation was carried out.

We have discussed our proposed annual income threshold of up to £7,330 with the Convention of Scottish Local Authorities in order to inform them of our intention to protect the eligibility of all households currently entitled to a free school lunch.

Impact Assessments

An Equality Impact Assessment, and a Children's Right and Wellbeing Impact Assessment, have been completed on the provisions of this instrument. It is not considered that this instrument will be discriminatory on the basis of age, disability, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation or gender reassignment. There is no negative impact on children's rights and wellbeing and we do not consider there to be any impacts on privacy or the environment.

Financial Effects

A Business and Regulatory Impact Assessment has been completed and is attached. The income threshold proposed is based on cost-neutral estimates which will protect the current levels of entitlement to a free school lunch for the 2020-21 school year. We will be reviewing the threshold annually to take account of future increases in the National Living Wage.
