6. Legislative Context

6.1 The Commission has power under section 59 of the Local Democracy, Economic Development and Construction Act 2009 (the 2009 Act) to make an order giving effect to recommendations contained in a report, prepared under section 58(4) of the 2009 Act, after conducting an electoral review under section 56(1) of that Act. This instrument is being made to give effect to the Commission's recommendations for new electoral arrangements set out in its report prepared following an electoral review of Havering Council.

7. Policy background

What is being done and why?

- 7.1 The purpose of an electoral review is to decide on the appropriate electoral arrangements including the number of councillors and the names, number and boundaries of wards or divisions for a specific local authority. The Commission began the electoral review of Havering Council in December 2019. The Commission decided to conduct the review as the last review of the authority was completed in 1999 and the Commission is required to review electoral arrangements of every council in England ‘from time to time’.
- 7.2 An electoral review aims to ensure that the number of electors represented by each county, borough or district councillor is as close to equal as possible, but the recommendations must also have regard to community identities and interests and the need for effective and convenient local government. To achieve these aims, the Commission tries to ensure that the number of electors per councillor in every division or ward is as close as possible to the average for the authority, but is happy to show flexibility in moving away from the average based on the evidence provided during the consultation stages of the review. Following a six-stage review process the Commission published its ‘New electoral arrangements for Havering Council Final recommendations’¹ on 11 May 2021.
- 7.3 The Order provides for changes to the electoral arrangements for Havering Council at the borough elections in 2022 as recommended by the Commission. The existing wards of the council will be replaced by 20 new ones. 15 wards will each return three councillors and 5 wards will return two councillors. The Commission considered that the evidence received justified one ward having an electoral variance of greater than 10% from the authority average by 2026.
- 7.4 Under section 56 of the 2009 Act, whenever the Commission recommends changes to the electoral arrangements for a borough, district or county council it must also recommend whether, in consequence of those changes, any changes should be made to the electoral arrangements for any parish council that is within the authority. Among other things, under Schedule 2 to that Act, recommendations must ensure that no parish ward is split between new borough, and under section 56 of that Act, recommendations must be made regarding the number of parish councillors for each parish ward.
- 7.5 This does not apply in the case of Havering as the authority does not contain any parish councils.

8. European Union (Withdrawal) Act/Withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the European Union

- 8.1 This instrument does not relate to withdrawal from the European Union.

9. Consolidation

9.1 This Instrument does not amend or revoke any legislation.

10. Consultation outcome

- 10.1 The Order gives effect to recommendations that were consulted on during the review of electoral arrangements from December 2019 to March 2021. During the course of the review, the Commission received approximately 993 representations. The consultations involved the Council, local MPs, local residents, groups and other interested parties. There was an initial 11-week consultation, during which the Commission asked for proposals on the most appropriate number of councillors and ward boundaries for the borough. At that stage, the Commission considered that a council size of 54 would ensure effective and convenient local government for the authority. Having considered the submissions received, the Commission published its ‘New electoral arrangements for Havering Council Draft Recommendations’² on 28 July 2020. Following a 10-week consultation on the draft recommendations, the Commission considered the further evidence received and published its ‘New electoral arrangements for Havering Council New Draft Recommendations’³ on 12 January 2021. Following an eight-week consultation on the new draft recommendations, the Commission considered the evidence and published its final recommendations.
- 10.2 In response to the consultation, the Commission modified its recommendations and considered that a council size of 55 would ensure effective and convenient local government for authority, as well as providing for a more viable warding pattern. The Commission also modified its proposals across the borough, with the exception of Hacton and St Andrew’s wards. In response to the new draft recommendations, the Commission made minor modifications to the boundaries of Emerson Park, Heaton, Marshalls & Rise Park, Squirrels Heath and St Edward’s wards. It also proposed that three wards be renamed, changing the name of Marshalls & Rise, Harrow Lodge and Rush Green wards to Marshalls & Rise Park, Hylands & Harrow Lodge and Rush Green & Crowlands, respectively. In addition, it added an apostrophe to ward names St Edward’s and St Alban’s.
- 10.3 The Commission confirmed its new draft recommendations for the remainder of the borough as final.
- 10.4 A detailed analysis of the outcome of the consultation is set out in the report ‘New electoral arrangements for Havering Council Final recommendations’ dated May 2021. As indicated in the Order, the mapping referred to in the Order is normally accessible at all reasonable times at the Commission’s offices. Given the current Covid-19 situation, the Commission’s offices are closed and the viewing of a hard copy of the map at its offices is not possible at this time. However, if any person wishes to view the map and the report, the Commission will consider this and seek to make appropriate arrangements. Moreover, the relevant map, as well as the report is

11. Guidance

- 11.1 The Commission does not intend to issue any guidance alongside this instrument. This is not considered necessary as the Order is self-explanatory and gives effect to recommendations following consultation with interested parties as to the changes to electoral arrangements.

12. Impact

- 12.1 There is no impact on business, charities or voluntary bodies.
- 12.2 The impact on the public sector will be limited to the area for which the Order makes provision. The one-off cost of producing the map referred to by the instrument is to be funded by the Commission. The one-off cost of amending the electoral register to reflect the new wards is to be funded by Havering Council.
- 12.3 An Impact Assessment has not been prepared for this instrument.

13. Regulating small business

- 13.1 The legislation does not apply to activities that are undertaken by small businesses.

14. Monitoring & review

- 14.1 The Commission will have no role in monitoring the Council's implementation of the London Borough of Havering (Electoral Changes) Order 2021. The Commission is not required to undertake such monitoring; that is a matter for the relevant officers of Havering Council. The Order will be reviewed insofar as the Commission continually monitors local authorities in England to identify any that meet its criteria for electoral reviews.
