

CHAPTER xix.

An Act to amend the Nottingham Mechanics Institution Act 1912. A.D. 1914.
[8th July 1914.]

WHEREAS by the Nottingham Mechanics Institution Act 1912 (in this Act called "the Act of 1912") the Nottingham Mechanics Institution (in this Act called "the Trust") was incorporated and was empowered (amongst other things) to mortgage or charge the lands tenements and hereditaments or any part thereof by the Act of 1912 vested in it or which might thereafter be vested in it:

And whereas it was provided by the Act of 1912 that none of the powers in that Act contained of mortgaging or charging any lands tenements or hereditaments vested in the Trust should be exercised except in respect of any lands tenements and hereditaments which in the opinion of the Trust were not required for the general purposes of the institution:

And whereas it is expedient that power should be conferred upon the Trust to mortgage the property vested in or acquired by it free from any such restriction as aforesaid and that the Act of 1912 should be amended as in this Act is provided:

And whereas the purposes aforesaid cannot be effected without the authority of Parliament:

May it therefore please Your Majesty that it may be enacted and be it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and Commons in this present Parliament assembled and by the authority of the same as follows (that is to say):—
