The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, by and with the advice of Her Majesty's Privy Council in Ireland, may, if deemed expedient, annex such of the slob lands, after the same shall have been reclaimed, as are not at the passing of this Act situated within any townland or parish, to one or more of the adjoining townlands or parishes, under the powers, and in the manner prescribed by, and subject in every respect to the provisions of the Act 17 Victoria, cap. 17, intituled "An Act to make further provision for defining the boundaries of counties, baronies, half baronies, parishes, townlands, and other divisions and denominations of land in Ireland for public purposes," and the Survey Act, 1870.

Seaweed may be gathered on slob lands until reclaimed.

50. Provided always, that until the works are so far completed as to exclude the tidal water from the slob land, or any part thereof, all persons who have been so accustomed may still take and gather away seaweed, sand, glar, or shells upon or from the slob land as if this Act were not passed: Provided nevertheless, that, in order to protect the embankments from injury, it shall not be lawful to gather or take away sand, mud, or stones within a line to be defined and marked off by the Company, which line shall not be distant in any one place more than one hundred yards from the foundations of the embankments.

Lands belonging to Company may be leased, sold, &c. by them.

Provided that the Company, until Commissioners shall be appointed in terms of this Act, shall, in disposing of any of the slob, make due provision for the maintenance and repair, from time to time, by and at the expense of the owners, from time to time, of such slob, of the embankments and other works made under this Act in connexion with such slob.

Due provision to be made for maintenance, &c.

53. If any person shall injure or damage any of the embankments, cuts, channels, drains, sluices, and other works by this Act authorised, or shall wilfully and to the detriment of the Company injure, break, throw down, destroy, steal, or take away any part of the materials of such works, or shall wilfully obstruct or prevent any person in the lawful exercise of this Act, he and every person aiding or assisting therein shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds, besides making good the damages, where damages have arisen by or in consequence of such offence.
