

CHAPTER cvii.

An Act for the revival of the powers and extension of the time for the compulsory purchase of lands and completion of the works authorised by the Romford Canal Act, 1875. A.D. 1880.
[2nd August 1880.]

WHEREAS by the Romford Canal Act, 1875, (in this Act called "the Act of 1875,") the Romford Canal Company (in this Act called "the Company") were incorporated for the purpose of constructing a canal commencing in the parish of Romford, in the county of Essex, and terminating in the parishes of Dagenham and Hornchurch, or one of those parishes, in the same county, in the River Thames, together with a collateral cut or canal wholly in the parish of Dagenham aforesaid: 38 & 39 Vict.
c. clv.

And whereas the respective periods for the exercise of the Company's powers for the compulsory purchase of lands and for the completion of the works were by the Act of 1875 limited to three years and five years respectively from the passing of that Act, which received the Royal Assent on the nineteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five:

And whereas it is expedient that the powers conferred upon the Company by the Act of 1875 for the compulsory purchase of lands should be revived, and that the respective times limited for the exercise of those powers and for the completion of the works should be extended:

And whereas the purposes of this Act cannot be effected without the authority of Parliament:

May it therefore please Your Majesty that it may be enacted; and be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as the Romford Canal Act, 1880.
