

Larceny Act 1916

1916 CHAPTER 50

6 Larceny of wills

Every person who steals any will, codicil, or other testamentary instrument, either of a dead or of a living person, shall be guilty of felony, and on conviction thereof liable to penal servitude for life.