- (a) to sell [^{F8}or offer to expose for sale] the reproductive material of the plant variety;
 - (b) to produce the reproductive material of the plant variety in Great Britain for the purpose of selling it; and
 - (c) in the circumstances described in Schedule 3 to this Act, to exercise the other rights there specified, and, subject to this section, infringements of plant breeders’ rights shall be actionable at the suit of the holder of the rights, and in any proceedings for such an infringement all such relief, by way of damages, injunction, interdict, account or otherwise, shall be available as is available in any corresponding proceedings in respect of infringements of other proprietary rights.

- (2) Paragraph (a) of the foregoing subsection shall not apply to the sale [^{F9}or offer or exposure for sale] of reproductive material which is not in Great Britain when it is sold [^{F9}or offered or exposed for sale]; but if any person purchases the reproductive material of the plant variety which is not in Great Britain when it is sold and uses it in Great Britain as reproductive material, the purchase and subsequent use shall together constitute an infringement of the plant breeders’ rights and the purchaser shall be liable to be proceeded against in respect of the infringement.

References in this subsection to using the reproductive material of a plant variety as reproductive material in Great Britain include references to so disposing of that material (otherwise than by way of sale) while it is in Great Britain as to make it available for use in Great Britain as reproductive material.

- (3) There shall be no right to damages in respect of an infringement of plant breeders’ rights—
- (a) if the person infringing the rights was not aware, and had no reasonable grounds for suspecting, that the plant variety in question was the subject of plant breeders’ rights, or
 - (b) in a case where the infringement consists of a breach of conditions attached to a licence, if that person had no notice of any of those conditions.

but the person who would, but for the foregoing provisions, be entitled to damages shall be entitled to an account of profits in respect of the infringement (and to payment of any amount found due on the account) whether any other relief is granted under this section or not.

- (4) The holder of plant breeders’ rights may, in authorising other persons to exercise his exclusive rights, impose any conditions, limitations or restrictions which may be imposed by the holder of any other kind of proprietary rights, and plant breeders’ rights shall be assignable like other kinds of proprietary rights.
- (5) A sale of the reproductive material of a plant variety which is the subject of plant breeders’ rights, being a sale by the holder of the rights (or by any other person authorised to grant a licence in respect of those rights)—
- (a) shall not imply that the seller authorises the purchaser to produce the reproductive material of the plant variety for the purpose of selling it, but
 - (b) subject to any terms or conditions imposed by the seller, shall imply that the seller authorises the purchaser to sell [^{F10}or offer or expose for sale] the reproductive material sold to him.
- (6) In this section and in Schedule 3 to this Act references to selling reproductive material include references to any transaction effected in the course of business—

- (3) An order under this section—
 - (a) shall be made after consultation with the persons responsible for the arrangements mentioned in subsection (2) of this section, and with persons representative of such other interests as appear to the Minister to be concerned, and

- (2) An applicant applying for a protective direction shall include in the application an undertaking to the effect that, subject to the exceptions in the next following sub-paragraph, in the period between the making of the application and the time when the question whether the application is to be allowed or refused is finally determined (or, if the undertaking is discharged under this Schedule at an earlier time, until that earlier time) no plants of the plant variety, and no material forming part of, or derived from, plants of that variety, will be offered or exposed for sale or sold in the United Kingdom by the applicant or with his consent.
- (3) An undertaking under this paragraph shall not prevent [^{F59}the making of] any offer [^{F60}or exposure] for sale or sale which in the period before the application would be permitted by sub-paragraphs (3), (4) or (5) of paragraph 2 of Part II of Schedule 2 to this Act, . . . ^{F61}
- (4) If the Controller is satisfied that the applicant has duly given the undertaking, and that he has furnished the Controller all such information, facilities and material as the Controller may require for the purposes of the application for the grant of plant breeders' rights, the Controller may, if he thinks fit, give a protective direction.
- (5) The Controller [^{F59}may refuse] a protective direction if there is any evidence before him which tends to show that the applicant, or the person whose successor in title the applicant claims to be, is not the person who bred or discovered the plant variety to which the application relates [^{F62}or that the rule set out in paragraph 2 of Part II of Schedule 2 to this Act is not complied with in the case of the variety].
- (6) An appeal shall lie to the Tribunal against a decision to give or refuse a protective direction.
