

Law Reform (Husband and Wife) (Scotland) Act 1984

1984 CHAPTER 15

An Act to amend the law relating to husband and wife and breach of promise of marriage and for connected purposes. [24th May 1984]

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Abolition of actions of breach of promise of marriage, adherence and enticement

1 Promise of marriage not an enforceable obligation.

- (1) No promise of marriage or agreement between two persons to marry one another shall have effect under the law of Scotland to create any rights or obligations; and no action for breach of any such promise or agreement may be brought in any court in Scotland, whatever the law applicable to the promise or agreement.
- (2) This section shall have effect in relation to any promise made or agreement entered into before it comes into force, but shall not effect any action commenced before it comes into force.

2 Actions of adherence and enticement abolished.

- (1) No spouse shall be entitled to apply for a decree from any court in Scotland ordaining the other spouse to adhere.
- (2) No persons shall be liable in delict to any person by reason only of having induced the spouse of that person to leave or remain apart from that person.
- (3) This section shall not have affect any action commenced before this Act comes into force.

Status: Point in time view as at 01/11/1996.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Law Reform (Husband and Wife) (Scotland) Act 1984. (See end of Document for details)
