

Housing Associations Act 1985

1985 CHAPTER 69

PART I

REGULATION OF HOUSING ASSOCIATIONS

Introductory

1 Meaning of “housing association” and related expressions.

- (1) In this Act “housing association” means a society, body of trustees or company—
- which is established for the purpose of, or amongst whose objects or powers are included those of, providing, constructing, improving or managing, or facilitating or encouraging the construction or improvement of, housing accommodation, and
 - which does not trade for profit or whose constitution or rules prohibit the issue of capital with interest or dividend exceeding such rate as may be prescribed by the Treasury, whether with or without differentiation as between share and loan capital [^{F1};

[^{F1}but does not include Scottish Homes.]

- (2) In this Act “fully mutual”, in relation to a housing association, means that the rules of the association—
- restrict membership to persons who are tenants or prospective tenants of the association, and
 - preclude the granting or assignment of tenancies to persons other than members; and “co-operative housing association” means a fully mutual housing association which is a society registered under the ^{M1}Industrial and Provident Societies Act 1965 [^{F2}(in this part referred to as “the 1965 Act”)] .

- (3) In this Act “self-build society” means a housing association whose object is to provide, for sale to, or occupation by, its members, dwellings built or improved principally with the use of its members’ own labour.

Status: Point in time view as at 31/10/1997.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Housing Associations Act 1985, Part I. (See end of Document for details)

[^{F10}4 Eligibility for registration.

(1) A housing association is eligible for registration if it is—

[^{F11}a society which has its registered office for the purposes of the 1965 Act in Scotland and]] which fulfils the following conditions.

(2) The conditions are that the association does not trade for profit and is established for the purpose of, or has among its objects or powers, the provision, construction, improvement or management of—

- (a) houses to be kept available for letting, or
- (b) houses for occupation by members of the association, where the rules of the association restrict membership to persons entitled or prospectively entitled (as tenants or otherwise) to occupy a house provided or managed by the association, or
- (c) hostels,

and that any additional purposes or objects are among the following.

[^{F12}(3) The permissible additional purposes or objects are—

- (a) providing land, amenities or services, or providing, constructing, repairing or improving buildings, for the benefit of the association’s residents, either exclusively or together with other persons;
- (b) acquiring, or repairing and improving, or creating by the conversion of houses or other property, houses to be disposed of on sale, on lease or on shared ownership terms;
- (c) constructing houses to be disposed of on shared ownership terms;
- (d) managing houses which are held on leases or other lettings (not being houses falling within subsection (2)(a) or (b)) or blocks of flats;
- (e) providing services of any description for owners or occupiers of houses in arranging or carrying out works of maintenance, repair or improvement, or encouraging or facilitating the carrying out of such works;

Status: Point in time view as at 31/10/1997.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Housing Associations Act 1985, Part I. (See end of Document for details)

- (f) encouraging and giving advice on the formation of other housing associations or providing services for, and giving advice on the running of, such associations and other voluntary organisations concerned with housing, or matters connected with housing.
- [in England and Wales, disposing of houses by way of sale at less than market value to residents of the association;]
- ^{F13}(ff) [in England and Wales, enabling or assisting any residents of theirs—
- ^{F14}(g) (i) to acquire, or to acquire and enter into occupation of, houses ^{F15} . . . , or (ii) to procure the construction ^{F16} . . . of separate dwellings for occupation by those residents (whether alone or with other persons), or to procure such construction and enter into occupation of the dwellings so constructed,
- by providing grants to or for such residents or, in a case falling within subparagraph (i) above, by entering into assured percentage arrangements with such residents (or partly in the one way and partly in the other).]
- (4) A housing association shall not be ineligible for registration by reason only that its powers include power—
- (a) to acquire commercial premises or businesses as an incidental part of a project or series of projects undertaken for purposes or objects falling within subsection (2) or (3);
- (b) to repair, improve or convert any commercial premises acquired as mentioned in paragraph (a) or to carry on, for a limited period, any business so acquired;
- (c) to repair or improve houses, or buildings in which houses are situated, after the tenants have exercised, or claimed to exercise, acquisition rights;
- (d) to acquire houses to be disposed of at a discount to tenants to whom section 58 of the Housing Act 1988 applies (tenants of charitable housing associations etc.).
- (5) In this section—
- “acquisition right” means—
- ^{F17}
- ^{F17} . . . a right to purchase under section 61 of the Housing (Scotland) Act 1987;
- [^{F18}“assured percentage arrangements” means arrangements pursuant to which—
- (a) a housing association provides a sum (the “initial capital sum”) to a person who, at the time when the association offers to provide that sum, is a resident of theirs (the “participating resident”) for the purpose of enabling or assisting him to acquire a legal estate in a house ^{F19} . . . ;
- (b) the participating resident, in consideration for the provision of the initial capital sum, enters into an assured percentage covenant with the association; and
- (c) the liability to make any payment required by the assured percentage covenant is secured by a mortgage;
- “assured percentage covenant” means a covenant requiring the participating resident in the case of the assured percentage arrangements in question to make to the association at a date (the “discharge date”) determined in accordance with the covenant a payment (the “discharge payment”) calculated by reference to the product of—
- (a) the difference between—

Status: Point in time view as at 31/10/1997.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Housing Associations Act 1985, Part 1. (See end of Document for details)

- (i) the initial capital sum, expressed as a percentage of the initial value of the house, and
 - (ii) the aggregate of the interim payment percentages (if any), and
- (b) the final value of the house,
- “interim payment percentage” meaning, for the purposes of paragraph (a)(ii) above, the amount of any payment accepted by the association before the discharge date, in diminution of the liability to make the discharge payment and in accordance with the terms of the instrument containing the covenant, expressed as a percentage of the proper value of the estate in question as at the time of that acceptance;]

“block of flats” means a building—

- (a) containing two or more flats which are held on leases or other lettings; and
- (b) occupied or intended to be occupied wholly or mainly for residential purposes;

“disposed of on shared ownership terms” means—

F17
F17

F17 . . . disposed of under a shared ownership agreement;

- [^{F20}“equity percentage arrangements” means arrangements pursuant to which—
- (a) a housing association conveys a legal estate in a house to an individual (the “relevant purchaser”);
 - (b) the relevant purchaser, in consideration for that conveyance—
 - (i) makes to the association a payment (the “initial payment”) expressed to represent a percentage of the initial value of the house; and
 - (ii) enters into an equity percentage covenant with the association; and
 - (c) the liability to make any payment required by the equity percentage covenant is secured by a mortgage;

“equity percentage covenant” means a covenant requiring the relevant purchaser in the case of the equity percentage arrangements in question to make to the association at a date (the “discharge date”) determined in accordance with the covenant a capital payment (the “discharge payment”) determined by reference to that percentage (if any) of the final value of the house which remains after reducing 100 per cent. by the sum of the following percentages, that is to say—

- (a) the percentage of the initial value of the house which the initial payment made pursuant to the equity percentage arrangements in question was expressed to represent, and
- (b) the aggregate of the interim payment percentages (if any),

“interim payment percentage” meaning, for the purposes of paragraph (b) above, the amount of any payment accepted by the association before the discharge date, in diminution of the liability to make the discharge payment and in accordance with the terms of the instrument containing the covenant, expressed as a percentage of the proper value of the estate in question as at the time of that acceptance

“the final value” of a house, in the case of an assured percentage covenant or equity percentage covenant, means the proper value of the estate in question at the time at which the discharge payment required by the covenant falls to be made

Status: Point in time view as at 31/10/1997.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Housing Associations Act 1985, Part I. (See end of Document for details)

“the initial value” of a house means—

- (a) in the case of assured percentage arrangements, the price required to be paid to or at the direction of the vendor for the conveyance of the estate in question to the participating resident; or
- (b) in the case of equity percentage arrangements, an amount agreed between the relevant purchaser and the housing association, before the conveyance of the estate in question to the relevant purchaser, as being the price for which the estate would have been conveyed at that time, with vacant possession, in an arm’s length transaction between a willing buyer and a willing seller on the open market;]

“letting” includes the grant—

^{F17} . . .

^{F17} . . . of a right or permission to occupy;

[^{F21}“proper value”, in the case of any estate, means the value of the estate as determined by such person as may be specified or described in, and otherwise in accordance with the terms of, the instrument containing the assured percentage covenant or equity percentage covenant in question;

“qualifying lending institution” means—

- (a) the Corporation;
- (b) a building society, within the meaning of the Building Societies Act 1986^{F22};
- (c) a bank;
- (d) an insurance company; or
- (e) a friendly society;]

“residents”, in relation to a housing association, means the persons occupying the houses or hostels provided or managed by the association;

“voluntary organisation” means an organisation whose activities are not carried on for profit.]

[^{F23}(6) a mortgage securing a person’s liability to make any payment required by an assured percentage covenant or equity percentage covenant shall, by virtue of this subsection, have priority immediately after any legal charge securing an amount advanced to that person by a qualifying lending institution—

- (a) for the purpose of enabling him to acquire the estate in question; or
- (b) with the written consent of the housing association, for the purpose of enabling him to carry out any improvement to the house in question.]

Accounts and audit

[^{F112}24 General requirements as to accounts and audit.

- (1) The Secretary of State may by order lay down accounting requirements for registered housing associations with a view to ensuring that the accounts of every registered housing association—
 - (a) are prepared in the requisite form, and
 - (b) give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the association, so far as its housing activities are concerned, and of the disposition of funds and assets which are, or at any time have been, in its hands in connection with those activities.

^{F113}(2)

- (3) The accounts of every registered housing association shall comply with the requirements laid down under this section; and the auditor's report shall state, in addition to any other matters which it is required to state, whether in the auditor's opinion the accounts do so comply.

- (4) Every registered housing association shall furnish to [^{F114}Scottish Homes] a copy of its accounts and auditor's report within six months of the end of the period to which they relate.

- (5) An order under this section—
 - (a) may make different provision with respect to different cases or descriptions of case, including different provision for different areas [^{F115}or for different descriptions of housing associations or housing activities], and
 - (b) shall be made by statutory instrument which shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament; and the provisions of such an order shall not apply in relation to a period beginning before the day on which the order comes into force.

- [^{F116}(6) For the purposes of subsection (5)(a), descriptions may be framed by reference to any matters whatever, including in particular, in the case of housing activities, the manner in which they are financed.]
