

Statutory Sick Pay Act 1994

1994 CHAPTER 2

U.K.

An Act to remove the right of employers other than small employers to recover sums paid by them by way of statutory sick pay; to enable the Secretary of State to make further provision by order as to the recovery of such sums; and for connected purposes. [10th February 1994]

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Extent Information

E1 Act: extends to Great Britain except ss. 4, 5(1)(2)(4) which extend to the United Kingdom.

Commencement Information

I1 Act partly in force at Royal Assent see s. 5(2); Act wholly in force at 6. 04. 1994.

1 Restriction of employers' right of recovery. E+W+S

- (1) In section 158(1)(a) of the ^{M1}Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 (recovery by employers of amounts paid by way of statutory sick pay), sub-paragraph (ii) (recovery of 80 per cent. of payments not qualifying for small employers' relief) shall cease to have effect.
- (2) In consequence the following are repealed—
 - (a) that provision and the word “and” preceding it, and
 - (b) section 81(2) of the ^{M2}Social Security Administration Act 1992;and in paragraph 2 of Schedule 11 to the ^{M3}Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 (circumstances in which entitlement to statutory sick pay does not arise), in sub-paragraph (a) for “over pensionable age” substitute “over the age of 65”.

Status: Point in time view as at 25/02/1999.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Statutory Sick Pay Act 1994. (See end of Document for details)

2 Transitional and other supplementary provisions. E+W+S

- (1) The Secretary of State may by regulations make such transitional and consequential provision, and such savings, as he considers necessary or expedient for or in connection with the coming into force of the provisions of section 1 or the operation of any enactment repealed or amended by that section during any period when the repeal or amendment is not wholly in force.
- (2) Section 175(2) to (4) of the ^{M4}Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 (general provisions as to regulations and orders) apply in relation to the power conferred by subsection (1) above as they apply in relation to a power conferred by that Act to make regulations.
- (3) A statutory instrument—
 - (a) which contains (whether alone or with other provisions) any regulations made under subsection (1), and
 - (b) which is not subject to any requirement that a draft of the instrument be laid before and approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament, shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.
- (4) The provisions of this Act apply to the Crown, and in relation to persons employed by or under the Crown, to the same extent as the provisions amended or repealed by section 1.

3 Power to make further provision as to recovery. E+W+S

- (1) In Part XI of the ^{M5}Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 (statutory sick pay), after section 159 insert—

“159A Power to provide for recovery by employers of sums paid by way of statutory sick pay.

- (1) The Secretary of State may by order provide for the recovery by employers, in accordance with the order, of the amount (if any) by which their payments of, or liability incurred for, statutory sick pay in any period exceeds the specified percentage of the amount of their liability for contributions payments in respect of the corresponding period.
- (2) An order under subsection (1) above may include provision—

Status: Point in time view as at 25/02/1999.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Statutory Sick Pay Act 1994. (See end of Document for details)

- (a) as to the periods by reference to which the calculation referred to above is to be made,
 - (b) for amounts which would otherwise be recoverable but which do not exceed the specified minimum for recovery not to be recoverable,
 - (c) for the rounding up or down of any fraction of a pound which would otherwise result from a calculation made in accordance with the order, and
 - (d) for any deduction from contributions payments made in accordance with the order to be disregarded for such purposes as may be specified,
- and may repeal sections 158 and 159 above and make any amendments of other enactments which are consequential on the repeal of those sections.

(3) In this section—

“contributions payments” means payments which a person is required by or under any enactment to make in discharge of any liability of his as an employer in respect of primary or secondary Class 1 contributions; and “specified” means specified in or determined in accordance with an order under subsection (1).

(4) The Secretary of State may by regulations make such transitional and consequential provision, and such savings, as he considers necessary or expedient for or in connection with the coming into force of any order under subsection (1) above.”

(2) In section 176(1)(c) of the ^{M6}Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 (parliamentary control: orders subject to affirmative procedure), at the appropriate place insert “ section 159A(1) ”.

(3) The Secretary of State—

- (a) shall lay before each House of Parliament the draft of an order under section 159A(1) of the ^{M7}Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 (inserted by subsection (1) above) framed so as to come into force on or before 6th April 1995, and
- (b) if the draft order is approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament, shall make the order in the form of the draft, unless before 1st December 1994 he lays before each House of Parliament a report explaining why he does not intend to make such an order.
