- (a) These Tables of Fees shall regulate the taxation of Accounts in judicial proceedings—(a) between Party and Party, (b) between Solicitor and Client, and (c) between Husband and Wife in consistorial cases.
- (b) When a Remit shall be made by the Court whether ex proprio motu or on the motion of the parties or any of them regarding matters in the Record to a Reporter the Solicitor shall not, without special agreement and subject to the orders of the Court, be personally responsible to the Reporter for his remuneration, the party alone being liable

(a) 1933 c. 41. (c) S.I. 1965/321 (1965 I, p. 803). (b) S.I. 1966/335 (1966 I, p. 778).

- (c) In all cases as between party and party the Court may direct that expenses shall be subject to such modification as the Court may deem fit.
- (d) In all cases an additional fee may be allowed at the discretion of the Court to cover the responsibility undertaken by the solicitor in the conduct of the case. The Court in deciding whether to allow such a fee and if it is allowed the Auditor in fixing it shall take into account the following factors:—
 - (1) The complexity of the litigation and the number, difficulty or novelty of the questions involved;
 - the skill, specialised knowledge and responsibility required of and the time and labour expended by the solicitor;
 - (3) the number and importance of the documents prepared or perused;
 - (4) the place and circumstances of the litigation or in which the solicitor's work of preparation for, and conduct thereof has been carried out;
 - (5) the importance of the litigation or the subject matter thereof to the client;
 - (6) the amount or value of money or property involved; and
 - (7) any other fees and allowances payable to the solicitor in respect of other items in the same litigation and otherwise charged for in the account.
- (e) In all cases where by reason of the procedure involved or otherwise the inclusive fees as set forth in the Alternative Table of Fees Chapter III hereof, are not conveniently applicable or do not properly cover the work involved, accounts may be charged on the basis of the Table of Fees Chapter I hereof. In all other cases it shall be in the option of the solicitor to charge an account either on the basis of the Table of Fees Chapter I hereof or on the basis of the Alternative Table of Fees Chapter III hereof, but in accounts as between party and party it shall not be competent to charge partly on one basis and partly on the other. In accounts as between Husband and Wife in consistorial cases and between solicitor and client, however, it shall be competent to charge an account partly on one basis and partly on the other but so however that if an inclusive fee is charged under the Alternative Table of Fees Chapter III hereof no work falling thereunder shall be charged again under the Table of Fees Chapter I hereof.
- (f) The Auditor shall have power to increase or decrease any inclusive fee as set forth in Chapter III hereof in any appropriate circumstances whether these circumstances fall under Part VII of said Chapter III or not.
- (g) Posts and incidents are allowed at 15 per cent of the taxed amount of fees subject to the Auditor's discretion.
