- (a) tuition and other fees payable in respect of the holder of the allowance;
- (b) travelling expenses necessarily incurred, or to be incurred, by the holder in attending the course of study in respect of which the allowance is awarded;
- (c) the maintenance of the holder and of any persons dependent on him during periods of full-time study and during vacations;
- (d) other expenses incurred, or to be incurred, by the holder in taking advantage of educational facilities.

(2) In determining the amount of an allowance, the Secretary of State shall take account of the sums, if any, which, in accordance with principles determined by him from time to time, the holder, the holder's parents and the holder's spouse can reasonably be expected to contribute towards the holder's expenses.

(3) The amount of an allowance may be revised at any time if the Secretary of State thinks fit having regard to—

- (b) all the circumstances of the holder or his parents or both as the case may be, or
- (c) any error made in the computation of the amount of the allowance.

Conditions of allowance

(2) It shall be a condition of payment of an allowance that the applicant gives a written undertaking to pay to the Secretary of State any amount of which the Secretary of State may request repayment in the circumstances specified in paragraph (3) below:

Provided that if the applicant is a minor and has any parent or guardian, the parent or guardian shall consent to the undertaking.

(3) Where the Secretary of State is satisfied that there has been an overpayment of allowance for any reason and requests repayment of the overpayment or so much thereof as he thinks fit, and the holder of the allowance has given an undertaking under paragraph (2) above, the holder of the allowance shall be obliged to pay to the Secretary of State the amount requested.

Method of payment

8.—(1) The allowance may be paid to the holder or to another person for his behoof, or in part to the holder and in part to the said other person, and any sum in respect of fees payable to an educational institution which is included in the amount of the allowance may be paid on behalf of the holder to the institution.

(2) The allowance may be paid in a single payment or by instalments as the Secretary of State thinks fit, but no payment shall be made before the holder has been accepted for admission to the course of study in respect of which the allowance is awarded.

EXPLANATORY NOTE*(This note is not part of the Regulations)*

These Regulations supersede and substantially re-enact the Students' Allowances (Scotland) Regulations 1971 (as amended) and enable the Secretary of State to pay allowances to persons attending courses of education who fulfil certain requirements as to eligibility. They also prescribe the conditions subject to which an allowance is paid. The principal differences in substance from the amended 1971 Regulations are described below.

Persons attending a course of study or undertaking postgraduate research outside Scotland may be deemed to be ordinarily resident in Scotland (regulation 2(4)(a)(ii)).

Certain persons who are denied awards by local educational authorities in England and Wales because they are classified as “no area students” may be eligible for allowances if their courses are in Scotland (regulation 2(4)(b)).

Persons who have been married for at least 3 years before the relevant date relating to the beginning of their courses are classified as independent students (regulation 2(6)(ii)).

Persons who have no parent living on the relevant date relating to the beginning of their courses are classified as independent students (regulation 2(6)(iv)).

Periods in the Youth Training Scheme count towards classification as independent students (regulation 2(6)(a)).

For persons who gain eligibility for an award by virtue of their parents' employment in the United Kingdom, that employment may be anywhere in the United Kingdom (regulation 5(b)).

Nationals of member states of the European Community who gain eligibility for an award by virtue of employment in the British Islands must have been ordinarily resident in Scotland on the qualifying day, but their employment may have been anywhere in the United Kingdom (regulation 5(c)).

Refugees and asylees do not have to be ordinarily resident in Scotland on the qualifying day before their courses begin in order to qualify for an allowance (regulation 5(d)).

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

Provision is made to permit the payment of tuition and other fees to nationals of the European Community who undertake courses of education in Scotland and who do not otherwise satisfy the residence requirements for an award (regulation 5(e)).

Persons who have been in receipt of an allowance for another course in the year before a new course begins do not have to satisfy further conditions as to residence (regulation 5(f)).
