2. The Crown Court may give directions altering the place of trial. If you are dissatisfied with the proposed place of trial stated in the notice of transfer, or the place of trial as substituted by a direction of the Crown Court, you may apply to the Crown Court to vary the place of trial.

3. On the day of 19 Magistrates' Court remanded you in custody to appear on the day of 19 . [The Court later granted you bail subject to certain conditions which you failed to meet, and accordingly you have remained in custody to appear on that day.] Under section 5(3) of the Criminal Justice Act 1987 the Magistrates' Court has power –

- (a) to order that you shall be safely kept in custody until delivered in due course of law, or
- (b) to release you on bail in accordance with the Bail Act 1976(a), that is to say, by directing you to appear before the Crown Court for trial.

The Magistrates' Court may exercise those powers without your being brought before the Court if –

- (b) the Court is satisfied that, when you gave your consent, you knew that the notice of transfer had been issued.

You may give your consent by signing the attached form of consent and passing it to the prison governor for him to send it to the Magistrates' Court by the day of 19 (the date of your next appearance).

3. On the day of 19 Magistrates' Court remanded you on bail to appear on the day of 19 . 5. I enclose a list of witnesses –

- (a) indicating those whom the Crown proposes to call to give oral evidence at your trial (and in whose case the Magistrates' Court will be invited to make a witness order under section 1(1) of the Criminal Procedure (Attendance of Witnesses) Act 1965); and
- (b) indicating those whose attendance at your trial the Crown considers unnecessary on the ground that their evidence is unlikely to be required or unlikely to be disputed (and in whose case the Magistrates' Court will be invited to make a conditional witness order under section 1(2) of that Act), together with in each case copies of the statements or other documents outlining the evidence of those witnesses.

(a) 1976 c.63.

6. I also enclose a list of the exhibits in your case together with copies of those exhibits which are in documentary form.

7. At any time before you are arraigned at the Crown Court you may apply orally or in writing to the Crown Court for the charge/any of the charges to be dismissed on the ground that the evidence which has been disclosed is not sufficient for a jury properly to convict you of it. If you wish to apply for the charge/any of the charges to be dismissed, you should make a written application not later than 28 days after the day on which the notice of transfer was given or give notice within the same period of your intention to do so orally, in accordance with the requirements of the Criminal Justice Act 1987 (Dismissal of Transferred Charges) Rules 1988(a). These periods may be extended on application to the Crown Court.

8. At your trial you may not be permitted to adduce evidence of an alibi unless you give notice of particulars of the alibi in accordance with section 11 of the Criminal Justice Act 1967(b). Such notice should be given to me within 7 days of the giving of the notice of transfer.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations provide for the form of notice of transfer under section 4 of the Criminal Justice Act 1987. That is the notice which is sent to a magistrates' court before the start of committal proceedings by or on behalf of a designated authority (as defined in that section, for example, the Director of the Serious Fraud Office) and which has the effect of transferring the case to the Crown Court. The Regulations require copies of the notice to be sent to the defendant, the Crown Court and (if the defendant is in custody) the prison governor.

The Regulations also provide for a form to be sent to the defendant informing him of the effect of the notice of transfer and seeking his consent to the exercise by the magistrates' court of certain powers in his absence. Copies of this form are required to be sent to the Crown Court and (if the defendant is in custody) the prison governor.
