

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

Provision is made in the Stock Transfer Act 1982 for permitting the transfer in certain cases of specified securities through the medium of a computer-based system established by the Bank of England and The Stock Exchange. Such a system, known as the CGO service, has been established. This Order specifies further securities, in addition to those listed in Schedule 1 to the Stock Transfer Act, to which the provision of the Act may apply.