EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order contains emergency prohibitions restricting various activities in order to prevent human consumption of food rendered unsuitable for that purpose by virtue of fish having been affected by oil and other chemical pollutants.

The emergency prohibitions imposed by the Food Protection (Emergency Prohibitions) (Oil and Chemical Pollution of Fish) Order 1993 require to be imposed on a larger area. Accordingly the area of sea already designated in the Schedule to that Order requires to be extended.

This Order redesignates the area within which taking fish is prohibited (articles 3 and 4 and the Schedule). It prohibits the movement of fish out of that area (article 5). Other restrictions are imposed throughout the United Kingdom in relation to the use of any fish taken from that area (article 6).

This Order revokes the Food Protection (Emergency Prohibition) (Oil and Chemical Pollution of Fish) Order 1993 and re-enacts the emergency prohibitions which are imposed on the area described in the Schedule to this Order.

Under section 21 of the Food and Environment Protection Act 1985 the penalty for contravening an emergency prohibition is—

- (a) on summary conviction, a fine of an amount not exceeding the statutory maximum (at present £5,000);
- (b) on conviction on indictment, an unlimited fine, or imprisonment for a term of not more than two years, or both.

Powers of enforcement in relation to emergency prohibitions are conferred by section 4 of, and Schedule 2 to, the 1985 Act. Obstruction of enforcement officers is an offence under paragraph 10 of that Schedule.
