The Industrial Tribunals Extension of Jurisdiction (Scotland) Order 1994

Extension of jurisdiction

4. Proceedings may be brought before an industrial tribunal in respect of a claim of an employer for the recovery of damages or any other sum (other than a claim for damages, or for a sum due, in respect of personal injuries) if—

- (a) the claim is one to which section 131(2) of the 1978 Act applies and which a court in Scotland would under the law for the time being in force have jurisdiction to hear and determine;
- (b) the claim is not one to which article 5 applies;
- (c) the claim arises or is outstanding on the termination of the employment of the employee against whom it is made; and
- (d) proceedings in respect of a claim of that employee have been brought before an industrial tribunal by virtue of this Order.
