the Regions

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order winds up the Local Government Residuary Body (“the Residuary Body”) which was established to deal with the residual matters of abolished authorities following the review of the structure of local government in England. All remaining property, rights, liabilities and functions (including functions in relation to the Residuary Body’s accounts) are transferred to the Secretary of State. Part II (constitution and membership) of the Order which established the Residuary Body is revoked.
