EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations amend the Police Regulations 1995.

A new regulation 20A is inserted. This regulation requires members of a police force to provide a sample of hair or saliva upon appointment (other than in cases of transfer between police forces) from which a DNA profile can be derived. The sample and information derived from the sample will be stored separately from samples and information derived from samples provided in accordance with the provisions of section 63 of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984. Samples and information derived from them will be destroyed when the officer providing the sample ceases to be a member of a police force.

A new regulation 42A is inserted. This regulation allows a member of a police force who, on or after 1st September 1994, joined or rejoined that force from the British Transport Police Force to reckon his service with the British Transport Police Force as service for the purposes of regulation 39 (rate of pay). If the member of the police force is of the rank of chief inspector or higher then a contrary agreement can be reached.

Schedule 13 to the Regulations is amended to provide for the payment of a replacement allowance to a member of a police force who has transferred to that force on or after 1st September 1994 from the British Transport Police Force and who was in receipt of a housing allowance prior to the transfer.

Regulations 14 and 39 are amended to increase from fourteen weeks to eighteen weeks the period of maternity leave that can be reckoned for the purposes of probation and pay. Regulation 39 is also amended to make it clear that any period of service in a higher rank counts as a period that can be reckoned for the purposes of pay at the lower rank.
