General right of appeal in respect of rulings

- (2) The Director may appeal in respect of the ruling in accordance with this article.
- (3) The ruling is to have no effect whilst the Director is able to take any steps under paragraph (4).

(7) The Director may not inform the court in accordance with paragraph (4) that he intends to appeal, unless, at or before that time, he informs the court that he agrees that, in respect of the charge or each charge which is the subject of the appeal, the accused in relation to that charge should be acquitted of that charge if either of the conditions mentioned in paragraph (8) is fulfilled.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order makes provision for prosecution appeals from rulings made in Court Martial trials and for the procedure to be followed in such appeals. The provisions of this order are made in consequence of those relating to prosecution appeals in Part 9 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (the 2003 Act). The power for the Secretary of State to make provision in consequence of criminal justice enactments derives from section 323 of the Armed Forces Act 2006 (“the 2006 Act”). This Order replaces the Courts-Martial (Prosecution Appeals) Order 2006 (S.I. 2006/1786), which made similar equivalent provision under section 31 of the Armed Forces Act 2001, for the purposes of court-martial trials prior to the establishment of the standing Court Martial under the 2006 Act. This order also replaces the Courts-Martial (Prosecution Appeals) (Supplementary Provisions) Order 2006 (S.I. 2006/1788), which made procedural provision for prosecution appeals in court-martial trials. That order was also made under section 31 of the 2001 Act, in consequence of the provisions of Part 7 of the Courts Act 2003, under which the Criminal Procedure Rules 2005 (S.I. 2005/384) were made. Those Rules provide for the procedure in civilian prosecution appeals.

The main substantive provisions of this order are contained in Part 2. Article 3 establishes the right of appeal for the Director of Service Prosecutions (“the Director”) in relation to trial proceedings and provides that such an appeal, subject to the granting of leave, lies to the Court Martial Appeal Court.

Article 4 makes provision, equivalent to the general right of appeal in section 58 of the 2003 Act, establishing a right of appeal for the Director against a ruling of a judge advocate in trial proceedings.

Article 5 makes provision, equivalent to that in section 59 of the 2003 Act, in relation to the alternative expedited and non-expedited routes for appeals. Article 6 allows for proceedings to continue in respect of any charge which is not the subject of an appeal.

Article 7 establishes powers for the Court Martial Appeal Court to confirm, reverse or vary any ruling to which the appeal relates equivalent to those in section 61 of the 2003 Act. Article 8 provides the test that must be met before the Court Martial Appeal Court may reverse a ruling from a judge advocate in trial proceedings.

Article 9 amends provisions of the Court Martial Appeals Act 1968 so as to provide for a right of appeal to lie to the Supreme Court against any decision of the Court Martial Appeal Court in relation to an appeal under this Order and to mirror the provisions of the Criminal Appeal Act 1968 in relation to the granting of bail to an accused who has so appealed to the Supreme Court.

Articles 10 and 11 make provision equivalent to sections 71 and 72 of the 2003 Act in relation to restrictions on reporting of appeals under this Order, and associated offences for contravention of reporting restrictions.

Article 12 makes provision as to legal representatives.

Article 13 gives powers to the Court Martial Appeal Court to award costs.

Article 14 sets out certain miscellaneous and supplemental provisions.

Part 3 of this Order contains procedural provisions. Article 15 makes provision in relation to adjournments requested by the Director in order for him to consider whether to appeal in respect of a ruling.

Article 16 makes provision for oral applications for leave to appeal to the judge advocate. Article 17 makes provision for the procedure to be followed in relation to decisions as to whether an appeal should be expedited. Articles 18 and 19 make provision as to the content and service of notices of appeal, notices of application for leave to appeal and accuseds' responses.

Article 20 provides that an accused in custody is not entitled to attend hearings in person without a direction to that effect from the Court Martial Appeal Court, but may participate by way of live link without such a direction if he is able to see and hear the court and to be seen and heard by it.

The procedure to be followed under Part 3 is qualified by article 21 for the purposes of appeals relating to public interest rulings.

Articles 22 to 30 make further procedural provisions, including provisions in relation to the abandonment of proceedings, powers exercisable by a single judge or registrar, appeals to the Supreme Court and service of documents. Article 25 provides that applications refused by the registrar may be renewed for determination by a single judge. Article 26 provides that applications refused by a single judge may be renewed for determination by the full Court Martial Appeal Court.

Article 31 makes transitory provision. Article 32 makes transitional provisions.
