

SCHEDULE 1

Regulation 3

PROVISIONS OF THE COMPANIES ACTS APPLYING TO UNREGISTERED COMPANIES

A company's constitution

1. Sections 26 and 27 of the Companies Act 2006 (filing obligations in connection with company's articles) apply to unregistered companies, modified so that they read as follows—

“Registrar to be sent copy of company's constitution

26.—(1) A company must, not later than 15 days after the date of its incorporation, send to the registrar a copy of every instrument constituting or regulating the company.

(2) Where a company amends any instrument constituting or regulating the company, it must, not later than 15 days after the amendment takes effect, send to the registrar a copy of the instrument as amended.

(3) If a company fails to comply with subsection (1) or (2) an offence is committed by—

- (a) the company, and
- (b) every officer of the company who is in default.

(4) A person guilty of an offence under this section is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale and, for continued contravention, a daily default fine not exceeding one-tenth of level 3 on the standard scale.

Registrar's notice to comply in case of failure with respect to company's constitution

27.—(1) If it appears to the registrar that a company has failed to comply with—

- (a) section 26(1) or (2) (registrar to be sent copy of company's constitution), or
- (b) any enactment requiring the company to send to the registrar—
 - (i) a document making or evidencing an alteration in any instrument constituting or regulating the company, or
 - (ii) a copy of any such instrument as amended, the registrar may give notice to the company requiring it to comply.

(2) The notice must—

- (a) state the date on which it is issued, and
- (b) require the company to comply within 28 days from that date.

(3) If the company complies with the notice within the specified time, no criminal proceedings may be brought in respect of the failure mentioned in subsection (1).

(4) If the company does not comply with the notice within the specified time, it is liable to a civil penalty of £200.

(5) This is in addition to any liability to criminal proceedings in respect of the failure mentioned in subsection (1).

(6) The penalty may be recovered by the registrar and is to be paid into the Consolidated Fund.”

2. Sections 34 and 35 of the Companies Act 2006 (notice to registrar where company's constitution altered) apply to unregistered companies, modified so that they read as follows—

Status: Point in time view as at 01/10/2013.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the The Unregistered Companies Regulations 2009, SCHEDULE 1. (See end of Document for details)

“Notice to registrar where company's constitution altered by enactment

34.—(1) This section applies where the constitution of a company is altered by an enactment, other than an enactment amending the general law.

(2) The company must give notice of the alteration to the registrar, specifying the enactment, not later than 15 days after the enactment comes into force.

(3) In the case of a special enactment the notice must be accompanied by a copy of the enactment.

(4) If the enactment amends any instrument constituting or regulating the company, the notice must be accompanied by a copy of the instrument in question, as amended.

(5) A “special enactment” means an enactment that is not a public general enactment, and includes—

- (a) an Act for confirming a provisional order,
- (b) any provision of a public general Act in relation to the passing of which any of the standing orders of the House of Lords or the House of Commons relating to Private Business applied, or
- (c) any enactment to the extent that it is incorporated in or applied for the purposes of a special enactment.

(6) If a company fails to comply with this section an offence is committed by—

- (a) the company, and
- (b) every officer of the company who is in default.

(7) A person guilty of an offence under this section is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale and, for continued contravention, a daily default fine not exceeding one-tenth of level 3 on the standard scale.

Notice to registrar where company's constitution altered by order

35.—(1) Where the constitution of a company is altered by an order of a court or other authority, the company must give notice to the registrar of the alteration not later than 15 days after the alteration takes effect.

(2) The notice must be accompanied by—

- (a) a copy of the order, and
- (b) if the order amends any instrument constituting or regulating the company, a copy of the instrument in question, as amended.

(3) If a company fails to comply with this section an offence is committed by—

- (a) the company, and
- (b) every officer of the company who is in default.

(4) A person guilty of an offence under this section is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale and, for continued contravention, a daily default fine not exceeding one-tenth of level 3 on the standard scale.

(5) This section does not apply where provision is made by another enactment for the delivery to the registrar of a copy of the order in question.”

A company's capacity and related matters

3. The following provisions of the Companies Act 2006 apply to unregistered companies—

- (a) sections 39 and 40 (a company's capacity and power of directors to bind company);

- (b) section 41 (constitutional limitations: transactions involving directors or their associates);
- (c) section 42 (constitutional limitations: companies that are charities);
- (d) sections 43, 44, 45(1) and 46 (formalities of doing business under the law of England and Wales or Northern Ireland);
- (e) section 48 (execution of documents under the law of Scotland);
- (f) section 50 (official seal for share certificates);
- (g) section 51 (pre-incorporation contracts, deeds and obligations).

Trading disclosures

4. Sections 82 to 85 of the Companies Act 2006 (trading disclosures) apply to unregistered companies, modified so that they read as follows—

“Requirement to disclose company name and other particulars

- 82.—(1) Every company must disclose its corporate name on—
- (a) its business letters, notices and other official publications;
 - (b) its bills of exchange, promissory notes, endorsements and order forms;
 - (c) cheques purporting to be signed by or on behalf of the company;
 - (d) orders for money, goods or services purporting to be signed by or on behalf of the company;
 - (e) its bills of parcels, invoices and other demands for payment, receipts and letters of credit;
 - (f) its applications for licences to carry on a trade or activity;
 - (g) all other forms of its business correspondence and documentation; and
 - (h) its websites.
- (2) Every company must disclose the further particulars set out in subsection (3) on—
- (a) its business letters;
 - (b) its order forms; and
 - (c) its websites.
- (3) The further particulars required are—
- (a) the part of the United Kingdom in which the company's principal office is situated;
 - (b) the reference number allocated to the company by the registrar;
 - (c) the address of the company's principal office;
 - (d) the manner in which it was incorporated;
 - (e) if it is—
 - (i) a limited company, or
 - (ii) an investment company within the meaning of section 833, that fact.

- (4) If, in the case of a company having a share capital, there is a reference to the amount of share capital on—
- (a) its business letters,
 - (b) its order forms, or

Status: Point in time view as at 01/10/2013.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the The Unregistered Companies Regulations 2009, SCHEDULE 1. (See end of Document for details)

(c) its websites,

the reference must be to paid up share capital.

(5) In relation to a company, a reference to “its websites” includes a reference to any part of a website relating to that company which that company has caused or authorised to appear.

Civil consequences of failure to make required disclosure

83.—(1) This section applies to any legal proceedings brought by a company to enforce a right arising out of a contract made in the course of a business in respect of which the company was, at the time the contract was made, in breach of section 82 (requirement to disclose company name and other particulars).

(2) The proceedings shall be dismissed if the defendant (in Scotland, the defender) to the proceedings shows—

- (a) that he has a claim against the claimant (pursuer) arising out of the contract that he has been unable to pursue by reason of the latter's breach of section 82, or
- (b) that he has suffered some financial loss in connection with the contract by reason of the claimant's (pursuer's) breach of section 82, unless the court before which the proceedings are brought is satisfied that it is just and equitable to permit the proceedings to continue.

(3) This section does not affect the right of any person to enforce such rights as he may have against another person in any proceedings brought by that person.

Criminal consequences of failure to make required disclosure

84.—(1) Where a company fails, without reasonable excuse, to comply with any requirement of section 82, an offence is committed by—

- (a) the company; and
- (b) every officer of the company who is in default.

(2) A person guilty of an offence under this section is liable on summary conviction to—

- (a) a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale; and
- (b) for continued contravention, a daily default fine not exceeding one-tenth of level 3 on the standard scale.

(3) For the purposes of this section a shadow director is to be treated as an officer of the company.

Minor variations in form of name to be left out of account

85. For the purposes of this Chapter, in considering the name of a company no account is to be taken of—

- (a) whether upper or lower case characters (or a combination of the two) are used, or
- (b) whether diacritical marks or punctuation are present or absent, provided there is no real likelihood of names differing only in those respects being taken to be different names.”.

A company's principal office in the United Kingdom

5. Sections 86 and 87 of the Companies Act 2006 (a company's registered office) apply to unregistered companies, modified so that they read as follows—

“A company's principal office

86.—(1) Communications and notices may at all times be addressed to a company at its principal office in the United Kingdom.

(2) A company must give notice to the registrar, not later than 15 days after the date of the incorporation of the company, of the address of its principal office in the United Kingdom.

(3) If a company fails to comply with subsection (2) an offence is committed by—

- (a) the company, and
- (b) every officer of the company who is in default.

(4) A person guilty of an offence under subsection (2) is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale and, for continued contravention, a daily default fine not exceeding one-tenth of level 3 on the standard scale.

Change of principal office

87.—(1) Where a company changes its principal office in the United Kingdom, it must send notice of the new address to the registrar not later than 15 days after the change takes effect.

(2) If a company fails to comply with subsection (1) an offence is committed by—

- (a) the company, and
- (b) every officer of the company who is in default.

(3) A person guilty of an offence under subsection (1) is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale and, for continued contravention, a daily default fine not exceeding one-tenth of level 3 on the standard scale.

(4) Until the end of the period of 14 days beginning with the date on which the new address is registered a person may validly serve any document on the company at the address previously registered.

(5) For the purposes of any duty of a company—

- (a) to keep available for inspection at its principal office in the United Kingdom any register or other document, or
- (b) to mention the address of that office in any document, a company that changes the address of its principal office in the United Kingdom may make the change as from such date as it may determine, but it is treated as failing to comply with that duty if it does not comply with subsection (1).

(6) Where a company unavoidably ceases to perform at its principal office in the United Kingdom any such duty as is mentioned in subsection (5)(a) but—

- (a) resumes performance of that duty at other premises as soon as practicable, and
- (b) gives notice to the registrar of a change in the address of its principal office in accordance with subsection (1), it is not to be treated as having failed to comply with that duty.”

Status: Point in time view as at 01/10/2013.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the The Unregistered Companies Regulations 2009, SCHEDULE 1. (See end of Document for details)

Effect of failure to give public notice

1079.—(1) A company is not entitled to rely against other persons on the happening of any event to which this section applies unless—

- (a) the event has been officially notified at the material time, or
- (b) the company shows that the person concerned knew of the event at the material time.

(2) The events to which this section applies are—

- (a) (as regards service of any document on the company) a change of the company's principal office in the United Kingdom,
- (b) the making of a winding-up order in respect of the company, or
- (c) the appointment of a liquidator in a voluntary winding up of the company.

(3) If the material time falls—

- (a) on or before the 15th day after the date of official notification, or
- (b) where the 15th day was not a working day, on or before the next day that was, the company is not entitled to rely on the happening of the event as against a person who shows that he was unavoidably prevented from knowing of the event at that time.

(4) “Official notification” means—

- (a) in relation to anything stated in a document specified in section 1078, notification of that document in accordance with section 1077;
- (b) in relation to the appointment of a liquidator in a voluntary winding up, notification of that event in accordance with section 109 of the Insolvency Act 1986 (c. 45) or Article 95 of the Insolvency (Northern Ireland) Order 1989 (S.I. 1989/2405 (N.I. 19)).”.
