Amendments to Communications Act 2003 and related amendments

Communications Act 2003

35. In section 65 (universal service conditions) after subsection (4) insert—

“(5) Before making or varying the universal service order, the Secretary of State must take due account of the desirability of not favouring—

(a) one form of electronic communications network, electronic communications service or associated facility, or

(b) one means of providing or making available such a network, service or facility, over another.”
