Consolidated supervision

Determination of the consolidating supervisor

20.—(1) The appropriate regulator must determine whether it is the EEA consolidating supervisor in respect of a group in accordance with Article 111 of the capital requirements directive.

(2) In particular cases, when determining which competent authority is the EEA consolidating supervisor in respect of a group, the appropriate regulator may, by agreement with the other relevant competent authorities, waive the criteria in paragraphs 3 and 4 of Article 111 of the capital requirements directive if their application would be inappropriate, taking into account the relative importance of the activities of the institutions which are members of the group in different countries.

(3) The appropriate regulator must notify EBA and the Commission if it concludes an agreement referred to in paragraph (2).

(4) If the appropriate regulator is the EEA consolidating supervisor, it shall be responsible for exercising supervision on a consolidated basis in accordance with Section 1 of Chapter 3 of Title 7 of the capital requirements directive and these Regulations.

Assessment of equivalence of consolidated supervision by supervisory authorities in non-EEA States

21.—(1) In this regulation, a “relevant institution” is an institution which satisfies the following conditions—

- (a) the institution is authorised by the PRA or FCA;

(2) The appropriate regulator must assess whether a relevant institution is subject to supervision on a consolidated basis by a supervisory authority of a country outside the EEA which is equivalent to the standard of supervision applicable to an institution under the capital requirements directive and Chapter 2 of Title 2 of Part 1 of the capital requirements regulation.

(3) For the purposes of carrying out the assessment referred to in paragraph (2), the appropriate authority must—

- (a) consult the other competent authorities which are responsible for the supervision of members of the group of which the relevant institution is a member; and

(5) The other appropriate supervisory techniques referred to in paragraph (4) may include a requirement on the institution to establish a financial holding company or mixed financial holding company with its head office in an EEA State, so that supervision on a consolidated basis may be applied in relation to the consolidated situation of that holding company.

(6) The appropriate regulator must—

- (a) consult the competent authorities referred to in paragraph (3)(a) before determining which supervisory techniques may be applied for the purposes of paragraph (4)(b); and

(3) Where the appropriate regulator is not the EEA consolidating supervisor and has authorised a subsidiary in the United Kingdom of a parent institution in an EEA State other than the United Kingdom, it may, by agreement in accordance with Article 28 of the EBA Regulation, delegate its responsibility for supervising the subsidiary to the competent authority which authorised and supervises that parent institution.

(4) Where the appropriate regulator is the EEA consolidating supervisor or a relevant competent authority in relation to a parent institution established in the United Kingdom, it may, by agreement with a relevant competent authority in accordance with Article 28 of the EBA Regulation, accept responsibility for supervising a subsidiary of that parent institution which is established in another EEA State.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations implement in part a package of EU legislation known as “CRD4”. CRD4 is concerned with the authorisation of credit institutions and the prudential rules applicable to credit institutions and investment firms.

In the remainder of these notes:

- (a) “CRD” means Directive 2013/36/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 26 June 2013 on access to the activity of credit institutions and the prudential supervision of credit institutions and investment firms (OJ no L176, 27/6/2013, p. 338; for corrigenda see OJ no L208, 2/8/2013, p.73);
- (b) “CRR” means Regulation (EU) No 575/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 26 June 2013 on prudential requirements for credit institutions and investment firms (OJ no L176, 27/6/2013, p.1; for corrigenda see OJ no L208, 27/6/2013, p.68 and OJ no L321, 30/11/2013, p6);
- (c) “FCA” means the Financial Conduct Authority;
- (d) “FSMA” means the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (c. 8);
- (e) “PRA” means the Prudential Regulation Authority.

The CRD and the CRR comprise CRD4 and are intended to be read together. Whilst these Regulations implement some provisions of the CRD, the remainder are implemented through rules made, and other legally binding requirements imposed, by the PRA and FCA. These Regulations should be read with the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Qualifying EU Provisions) (No. 2) Order 2013, which specifies the CRR as a “qualifying EU provision” for various provisions of FSMA. This gives the PRA and FCA supervisory and enforcement powers in relation to the CRR.

Part 1 and Schedule 1 make provision for commencement, expiry and interpretation. Articles 151 to 159 of the CRD set out a range of transitional provisions. They will cease to have effect on a date to be specified in a Commission delegated act, and will be replaced by the provisions at Articles 40, 41, 43, 49, 50 and 51 of the CRD. This is reflected in the commencement and expiry provisions included in these Regulations.

Part 2 consists of provision revoking the Capital Requirements Regulations 2006.

Part 3 comprises provision designating the competent authorities for the purposes of the CRD and CRR. The PRA and FCA are designated as competent authorities for the main provisions of the CRD and CRR. Articles 128 to 142 of the CRD (capital buffers) will be the subject of a further statutory instrument in 2014. Responsibility for Article 458 of the CRD (macro-prudential measures) is split between the Treasury and the Bank of England, and paragraph 38 of Schedule 2 inserts provision to that effect into the Bank of England Act 1998 (c. 11).

Part 4 imposes obligations on the PRA and FCA in relation to cooperation and co-ordination with other competent authorities and the European Supervisory Authorities.

Part 5 imposes obligations on the PRA and FCA regarding disclosure of information and notifications required under the CRD.

Part 6 contains provision on how the PRA or FCA must act when it is the consolidating supervisor of a group of credit institutions or investment firms. “Consolidating supervisor” is defined in Article 4(1)(41) of the CRR.

Part 7 concerns the exercise of supervision by the PRA and FCA, in particular in relation to own funds, specific liquidity requirements, employee remuneration and diversity practices.

Part 8 concerns permissions under the CRR. The CRR confers discretion on competent authorities to grant firms permission to do certain things under the CRR, for example permission to use the Internal Ratings Based approach to calculating risk-weighted exposure amounts. Part 8 makes provision for the procedural aspects of the exercise of this discretion. In particular, regulation 42 grants a right of appeal to the Upper Tribunal.

Part 9 extends the criminal offence established by section 398 of FSMA (misleading the FCA or PRA: residual cases) to requirements imposed by or under the CRR, directly applicable regulations made under the CRD or CRR, or these Regulations.

Part 10 and Schedules 2 and 3 make amendments to primary and secondary legislation. Part 1 of Schedule 2 makes amendments to FSMA, in particular in relation to the passporting rights of non-UK firms into the UK. Part 2 of Schedule 2 amends the Building Societies Act 1986 and the Bank of England Act 1998 and makes consequential amendments to other primary legislation. Part 3 of Schedule 2 amends the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Disclosure of Confidential Information) Regulations (S.I. 2001/2188) and the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (EEA Passport Rights) Regulations 2001 (S.I.2001/2511) and makes consequential amendments to other secondary legislation.

A Transposition Table setting out how the CRD is transposed into UK law is available from HM Treasury, 1 Horseguards Road, London, SW1A 2HQ.

An impact assessment has not been produced for this instrument as no significant impact on the costs of business or the voluntary sector is foreseen.
