(7) The information referred to in paragraph (5) is a written statement that there will be no requirement for the trustees or managers to check that appropriate independent advice has been received before they are able to carry out the relevant transaction.

Determination of whether exception applies and check that advice received

9.—(1) Subject to paragraph (5), the trustees or managers must, if the circumstances set out in paragraph (2) apply—

(4) Where the value of the cash equivalent is changed after the member has received appropriate independent advice, but the value remains over £30,000, the trustees or managers must inform the member that it is not necessary to obtain further appropriate independent advice as a result of the change in the value of the cash equivalent.

Requirement to check that the authorised independent adviser has permission to carry on regulated activity

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations make provision in relation to the requirement in section 48 of the Pension Schemes Act 2015 (c.8) (“the Act”), that trustees or managers of a pension scheme check that appropriate independent advice has been received by a member or survivor before the trustees or managers can carry out the transactions specified in that section. These Regulations also make provision under section 49 of the Act, specifying circumstances in which an employer must pay for the provision of appropriate independent advice to a member or survivor when this is required by section 48.

Regulation 2 contains transitional provisions related to the coming into force of section 48 of the Act. Regulations 3 and 4 further define “appropriate independent advice” and “authorised independent adviser”.

Regulation 5 provides for an exception to the requirement in section 48(1) of the Act, where the value of the member’s or survivor’s safeguarded benefits under the scheme are worth £30,000 or less.

Regulation 6 sets out the information to be provided to the member or survivor in the circumstances and according to the requirements set out in regulations 8, 9 and 10, and regulation 7 sets out the required form of confirmation that appropriate independent advice has been received.

Regulations 8, 9 and 10 set out circumstances in which the information in regulation 6 must be provided, and what else trustees and managers must do to check that appropriate independent advice has received by the member or survivor.

Regulation 11 requires the trustees or managers to check the FCA maintained Financial Services Register to ensure the person providing the advice is an authorised independent adviser.

Regulation 12 requires that where an employer sends a communication to two or more members or survivors which encourages, persuades or induces them to carry out a transaction to which section 48 of the Act relates, that employer must arrange or pay for the member to receive appropriate independent advice.

An assessment of the impact of the policy reflected in sections 48 and 49 of the Act on business and civil society organisations was published in November 2014 and can be found at <http://www.parliament.uk/documents/impact-assessments/IA14-13A.pdf>.
