THE PUBLIC SERVICE PENSIONS REVALUATION (PRICES) ORDER 2016

2016 No. 438

1. Introduction

This explanatory memorandum has been prepared by the Treasury and is laid before the House of Commons by Command of Her Majesty.

2. Purpose of the instrument

This Order specifies the annual percentage change in prices to be applied for the purposes of revaluation required by schemes under the Public Service Pensions Act 2013 (“the Act”) in relation to the period 1 April 2015 to 31 March 2016 inclusive.

3. Matters of special interest to Parliament

Matters of special interest to the Select Committee on Statutory Instruments

3.1 None.

Other matters of interest to the House of Commons

3.2 Disregarding minor or consequential changes, the territorial application of this instrument includes Scotland and Northern Ireland.

4. Legislative Context

4.1 The Act provides for public service pension schemes to be established by regulations (“scheme regulations”) under section 1 of the Act.

4.2 Section 9 of the Act applies in relation to pension schemes which require a member’s pensionable earnings, or a proportion of them accrued as a pension, to be revalued by reference to a change in prices or earnings (or both). Section 9(2) requires the change in prices or earnings to be such percentage increase or decrease as is specified in an order made by the Treasury. This Order fulfils that requirement in relation to prices.

4.3 The figure specified is a decrease so this Order is subject to the affirmative Commons procedure. Another order will be made to specify the change in earnings for the same period, and that is subject to the negative Commons procedure.

5. Extent and Territorial Application

5.1 The instrument extends to all of the United Kingdom.

5.2 The instrument applies to all of the United Kingdom.

6. European Convention on Human Rights

6.1 The Chief Secretary to the Treasury Mr Greg Hands has made the following statement regarding Human Rights:

“In my view the provisions of the Public Service Pensions Revaluation (Prices) Order 2016 are compatible with the Convention rights.”

7. Policy background

What is being done and why

- 7.1 Section 8 of the Act requires that a defined benefits public service pension scheme must be a career average revalued earnings (“CARE”) scheme or a scheme of other such description as specified by the Treasury in regulations. Where a scheme under the Act is a CARE scheme, there needs to be a mechanism for revaluing the pensionable earnings or accrued pension of active members. The process is governed by the scheme regulations but carried out by reference to an annual order made by the Treasury.
- 7.2 New CARE schemes were introduced for the main public service pension schemes from April 2015, with the Local Government Pension Scheme in England and Wales introduced a year earlier in April 2014. The scheme designs were negotiated by relevant departments and devolved administrations with the trade unions, employee representatives and employer representatives, and published as Proposed Final Agreements for each of the relevant schemes.
- 7.3 The Proposed Final Agreements included the revaluation metric to be used for each scheme. The majority of schemes rely on a prices metric, which is identified as the Consumer Prices Index (“CPI”) in the Agreements. Some of these have plain CPI revaluation, whereas other schemes use a CPI plus revaluation rate, such as the NHS pension scheme which uses CPI plus 1.5%.
- 7.4 The prices metric to be used for revaluation in the various scheme regulations for 1 April 2015 to 31 March 2016 inclusive is the September 2015 CPI figure, which represents a decrease of 0.1%. As well as featuring in several schemes’ Proposed Final Agreement, CPI is the Government’s preferred measure of change in prices for the indexation of public service pensions in payment and deferment.

Consolidation

- 7.5 There are no plans to consolidate the provisions of this Order with any other instrument.

8. Consultation outcome

- 8.1 This instrument is an order made every year that does not require a consultation exercise.

9. Guidance

- 9.1 No guidance has been produced to accompany this instrument.

10. Impact

- 10.2 There is no impact on the public sector directly as a result of this Order. This Order, however, is used by scheme regulations as the order which presents the number by which pensionable earnings or accrued pension of active members will be revalued.
- 10.3 An Impact Assessment has not been prepared for this instrument.
