7. Policy background

What is being done and why

- 7.1 The programme of insolvency reforms currently under way delivers a number of policy measures to improve the efficacy and efficiency of the insolvency regime. Some of these measures involve significant changes to the way in which insolvency proceedings are conducted. The removal of the requirement to hold creditor meetings except in certain circumstances, the streamlining of creditor decision making processes, use of electronic communication and websites, and the ability of creditors to opt not to receive certain notices, will modernise and reduce the costs of administering an insolvency. The policy impetus for all these measures was to remove unnecessary regulatory burdens to reduce the cost of administering insolvency proceedings. Reducing costs will benefit creditors in the form of improved dividend returns.
- 7.2 For further details on the reforms, see the explanatory notes accompanying the Insolvency (England and Wales) Rules 2016 and the DA and SBEEA.

8. Consultation outcome

- 8.1 BIS carried out extensive consultations before bringing forward the insolvency reforms in the DA and SBEEA, including the following public consultations: the ‘insolvency red tape challenge’ and the ‘transparency and trust paper’.
- 8.2 Insolvency reforms have been informed by extensive consultation and engagement with a range of parties affected by insolvency. Such parties include: the insolvency profession, creditor representatives, insolvency regulators and public bodies.

8.3 In July 2015 draft insolvency rules were submitted to the Insolvency Rules Committee for the purpose of the Lord Chancellor's statutory consultation pursuant to section 413 of the Act. The draft was also published online. The IRC confirmed on 5 October 2016 that it had considered the draft instrument and was satisfied with its content.
