

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM TO
THE EUROPEAN RESEARCH INFRASTRUCTURE CONSORTIUM
(AMENDMENT) (EU EXIT) REGULATIONS 2019

2019 No. 77

1. Introduction

- 1.1 This explanatory memorandum has been prepared by the Department for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy and is laid before Parliament by Act.
- 1.2 This memorandum contains information for the Joint Committee on Statutory Instruments.

2. Purpose of the instrument

- 2.1 This instrument amends provisions deriving from EU legislation (Council Regulation (EC) No 723/2009 of 25 June 2009 (“the ERIC Regulation”)¹, relating to the framework for a European Research Infrastructure Consortium “ERIC”), which has been retained in domestic law as retained EU law under the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 (“the Act”).

Explanations

What did any relevant EU law do before exit day?

- 2.2 The ERIC Regulation sets out the legal framework under which an ERIC is created and operates. It covers matters such as the process for applying to the EU Commission to form an ERIC, its organisation, the requirements on an ERIC and the Commission action if the requirements are not complied with.

Why is it being changed?

- 2.3 These amendments address deficiencies in this retained EU law, as a result of the exit of the United Kingdom from the European Union. This instrument amends provisions which are inappropriate or redundant as a result of the withdrawal of the UK from the EU. For example, provisions which relate to the process of applying to the European Commission for the setting up of an ERIC are removed. Other examples are given in section 7.5.

What will it now do?

- 2.4 This instrument makes no policy changes. The amended ERIC Regulation, as it forms part of retained EU law, will ensure that ERICs continue to have the same attributes, such as legal personality, as they had under the ERIC Regulation before exit day.

3. Matters of special interest to Parliament

Matters of special interest to the Joint Committee on Statutory Instruments

- 3.1 This statutory instrument was presented to the sifting committees for consideration on 20 July 2018 (sift end date 5 September 2018) under the proposed negative resolution procedure. The Secondary Legislation Scrutiny Committee response made no recommendations in relation to this statutory instrument. The European Statutory Instruments Committee response recommended this statutory instrument be subject to the affirmative procedure. The Department for Business Energy and Industrial Strategy accepted the recommendation of the European Statutory Instruments Committee.

Matters relevant to Standing Orders Nos. 83P and 83T of the Standing Orders of the House of Commons relating to Public Business (English Votes for English Laws)

- 3.2 This entire instrument applies to England, Wales and Northern Ireland only and is a financial instrument for the purposes of Standing Order No. 83T of the Standing Orders of the House of Commons relating to Public Business.
- 3.3 In the view of the Department, for the purposes of House of Commons Standing Order No. 83P of the Standing Orders of the House of Commons relating to Public Business the subject-matter of this instrument would not be within the devolved legislative competence of any of the Northern Ireland Assembly as a transferred matter, the Scottish Parliament or the National Assembly for Wales if equivalent provision in relation to the relevant territory were included in an Act of the relevant devolved legislature.

4. Extent and Territorial Application

- 4.1 The territorial extent of this instrument is the United Kingdom.
- 4.2 The territorial application of this instrument is set out in Section 3 under “Matters relevant to Standing Orders Nos. 83P and 83T of the Standing Orders of the House of Commons relating to Public Business (English Votes for English Law)”.

5. European Convention on Human Rights

- 5.1 The Minister of State for Universities, Science, Research and Innovation, Sam Gyimah, has made the following statement regarding Human Rights:
“In my view the provisions of the European Research Infrastructure Consortium (Amendment) (EU Exit) Regulations 2018 are compatible with the Convention rights”

6. Legislative Context

- 6.1 The Act provides for the Secretary of State to deal with deficiencies in retained EU law arising from the withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the EU. This includes law which continues to form part of domestic law by sections 2 and 3 (namely, saving for EU-derived domestic legislation and the incorporation of direct EU legislation).

7. Policy background

What is being done and why?

- 7.1 This instrument does not implement new policy. It corrects deficiencies in retained EU law for ERICs. The ERIC Regulation as it forms part of retained EU law will facilitate UK membership as a non-EU member state in these consortia after the UK leaves the EU, should we so wish to do so.

What are ERICs and how do they function?

- 7.2 ERICs are organisations or structures set up to deliver major international science and research collaborations in the EU. The projects are set up under the ERIC Regulation. Each ERIC has its own set of unique statutes and is established by a European Commission Implementing Decision made under the ERIC Regulation.
- 7.3 Countries do not need to be a member of the EU to be a member of an ERIC. Countries that are not an EU member and not an associate member of EU Research and Innovation Framework Programmes can be a member provided certain requirements are satisfied. International organisations are also permitted to be members.

Importance to the UK

- 7.4 ERICs allow for pan-European research projects that any single country would be unlikely to have the resources or expertise to undertake alone. UK participation in ERICs currently gives UK scientists and companies access to facilities, data, knowledge and contracts that would otherwise be inaccessible. The outcomes of these projects feed into research communities across the UK including, but not limited to: marine science, astrophysics, human health and welfare, and societal change. This has wider benefits for UK strategies, such as those surrounding climate change, as well as having direct economic benefit for companies winning construction or operating contracts for ERICs. It is therefore crucial that the UK retains the ability to participate in these research projects in the future, should it choose to do so. This will be a significant contribution to the establishment of an ambitious and far reaching relationship with the EU on Science and Innovation and help ensure that UK scientists have access to the world class facilities that underpin the UK's position as a leading scientific nation.

What the amendments do

- 7.5 The amendments made to the ERIC Regulation by this instrument address deficiencies in retained EU law. They will in particular amend provisions which are redundant or inappropriate as a result of the withdrawal of the UK from the European Union, for example:
- Provisions relating to applying to the European Commission for the setting up of the ERIC;
 - Operational requirements placed on ERICs, fulfilment of which is ensured by the European Commission under the ERIC Regulation as it has effect in EU law;
 - Provisions concerning European Commission actions relating to the control of ERICs.

Provisions are also amended which contain EU references which are no longer appropriate and retained EU law is restated in a clearer form by, for example, replacing a reference to an Article in an EU Directive with a reference to national provisions implementing that Article.

8. European Union (Withdrawal) Act/Withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the European Union

- 8.1 This instrument is being made using the power in section 8 of the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 in order to address failures of retained EU law to operate effectively or other deficiencies arising from the withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the European Union. This instrument is also being made under section 21(b) of Schedule 7 to the Act. In accordance with the requirements of that Act the Minister has made the relevant statements as detailed in Part 2 of the Annex to this Explanatory Memorandum.

9. Consolidation

9.1 Not Applicable.

10. Consultation outcome

10.1 As this instrument makes purely technical changes to retained EU law, and makes no policy changes, consultation was not viewed as necessary.

10.2 ERICs relate to a reserved matter; however, the draft Statutory Instrument and the draft Explanatory Memorandum were shared with the devolved administrations on 20 June 2018 for comments and questions.

11. Guidance

11.1 Not Applicable.

12. Impact

12.1 There is no, or no significant, impact on business, charities or voluntary bodies.

12.2 There is no, or no significant, impact on the public sector.

12.3 A De Minimis Self Certification has been prepared for this instrument. A full Impact Assessment was not been prepared for this instrument because it does not give rise to any new costs and it does not have any financial or economic impact beyond the status quo.

13. Regulating small business

13.1 The legislation does not apply to activities that are undertaken by small businesses.

14. Monitoring & review

14.1 As this instrument is made under the EU Withdrawal Act 2018, no review clause is required.

1. Sifting statement(s)

- 1.1 The Minister of State for Universities, Science, Research and Innovation, Sam Gyimah, has made the following statement regarding use of legislative powers in the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018:

“In [my/our] view the [Title of instrument] should be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament (i.e. the negative procedure)”.

- 1.2 This is the case because in addressing the deficiencies in retained EU law the instrument makes changes of a technical nature and does not make policy changes.

2. Appropriateness statement

“In my view the European Research Infrastructure Consortium (Amendment) (EU Exit) Regulations 2018 does no more than is appropriate.”

- 2.2 This is the case because they do no more than prevent, remedy or mitigate deficiencies in retained EU law arising from the withdrawal of the UK from the EU, examples of which are mentioned in section 7.5 in the main body of this explanatory memorandum.

3. Good reasons

- 3.1 The Minister of State for Universities, Science, Research and Innovation, Sam Gyimah, has made the following statement regarding use of legislative powers in the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018:
