It adds any offence under section 4(3) or 5 of the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971 (possession or supply etc. of controlled substances) committed in relation to a Class A drug, as defined in section 2(1)(b) of that Act, at any regulated football match (as defined by the Football Spectators (Prescription) Order 2022 (S.I. 2022/617) or while entering or trying to enter the ground.

7. Policy Background

- 7.1 The instrument will make it possible for the police or Crown Prosecution Service to initiate football banning order proceedings against a person convicted of offences of possession or supply of Class A drugs, as defined by the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971, at a regulated football match or while entering or trying to enter the ground.
- 7.2 A football banning order is a preventative behavioural order that prevents persons from attending regulated (elite level) football matches in England and Wales for a period of three to five years (six to ten years if a custodial sentence is imposed following conviction for the offence that triggers the banning order application). The enforcing authority can request that banned individuals report to local police before overseas regulated football matches and tournaments.
- 7.3 Police have raised with Government serious concerns about the impact the use of cocaine is having on the behaviour of fans at football matches in England and Wales. Police view cocaine use by an element of fans as a significant catalyst for violence and disorder at football and have collated an evidence base to support this position. The football authorities have expressed similar concerns to Government. Other Class A drugs are highly harmful; accordingly users may endanger themselves and others inside football stadia.
